Traction Company Starts Big Project Shaft Within 5

$400,000 TO BE SPENT ON POWER PLANT

New Furnaces to Burn Pulverized Fuel Will Eliminate Smoke Nuisance

NEW GAS PLANT PLANNED

Greater Steam Capacity Will Result from New Installations

Capacity of boilers now in the power plant of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. will be vastly increased and the "smoke nuisance" at the plant will be entirely eliminated by installation of new boiler room equipment for which preparations now are being made. The project includes building an addition to the west of the plant to house the machinery for crushing and pulverizing coal, construction of a huge concrete smokestack and installation of furnaces to burn pulverized coal. The new building and equipment will represent about $400,000, it is said.

There will be no interruption of service while the changes are being made. Four boilers will be equipped with furnaces for burning pulverized coal and will be in operation before the other unit of four boilers is changed. It is expected the first unit of two boilers will be reconstructed by July 1 and the second unit by about the middle of September. The concrete base for the stack has been built and space is being cleared for the foundations for the pulverizing plant. This plant will project into the present coal storage yard.

The present stoker equipment, steel smokestacks and force draft fans will be replaced by new equipment. Officials of the traction company say the new equipment will be modeled after the boiler room in the Lakeside power plant in Milwaukee, one of the most modern and efficient in the country. The equipment will enable the company to carry a larger load with greater security and to burn inferior quality of coal, if the necessity for that should arise. It is believed a considerable saving in fuel costs can be effected because pulverized coal can be consumed with much less waste than is possible with the present stoker system.

Present boilers in the power plant will be operated at about 200 per cent of their rated capacity under normal load and as high as 280 per cent of rated capacity in time of stress when the new furnaces are installed, as compared with an average of 125 per cent of capacity with the present system. This additional boiler capacity will make possible utilization of electrical equipment that now is not developing any electrical energy. The traction company contemplates construction of a new gas plant in the near future. The first work will be erection of a gas holder with a capacity of 500,000 cubic feet. It is estimated that about $400,000 will be expended on this project.

A system of washing the smoke before it leaves the stack will obviate the trouble of which residents near the traction company have complained. Smoke produced by burning pulverized coal does not contain the black particles resulting from coal burned in stoker furnaces and the dust which is carried into the boiler is washed out by a system of smoke washers.

Clean combustion is one of the principal advantages of the pulverized coal burning system. The coal is converted into dust as fine as flour by the crushers and pulverizers and is fed into the furnaces under low pressure. The amount of fuel is regulated by feeders much as gas is regulated and the dust is cleanly burned leaving only a small amount of ash. No clinkers are produced and all the carbon is burned out.

Coal as it passes through the pulverizing plant is handled by machinery. It is lifted to the top of the plant by conveyors and comes down through a series of crushers, rollers and pulverizers and the coal dust is stored in bins for use as needed.

The traction company contemplates construction of a new gas plant in the near future. The first work will be erection of a gas holder with a capacity of 500,000 cubic feet. It is estimated that about $400,000 will be expended on this project.

TROTSKY IS OUSTED FROM LABOR COUNCIL OF SOVIET REPUBLIC

Moscow—Leon Trotsky who recently was removed from the post of war minister, has been relieved of his membership in the council for labor and defense, it is officially announced. He will be succeeded on the council by M. V. Frunse, the new war minister.

This deprives Trotsky of all connection with the Soviet government but he is still a member of the central committee of the Communist party, his fate in this connection remaining to be decided at the party congress in April. It is thought likely that he will not be reelected to the committee but that he will be retained as a member of the party.

Trotsky now is recuperating from his illness and writing his memoirs at Sukhum (Sukhum Kale) on the Black sea, and appears to have been all but forgotten by the Russian public.

THREATENED STREET CAR STRIKE AVERTED WHEN FACTIONS AGREE

Green Bay—A street car strike which threatened to tie up the entire city an interurban lines operated here by the Wisconsin Public Service Co., was averted when difficulties which arose over the reinstatement of Grant Smith motorman, were amicably settled early Saturday morning. The strike was scheduled for Saturday.

The employees of the company took exception to the dismissal about a month ago of Smith on charges of insubordination in connection with his refusal to operate what he claimed was an improperly heated interurban during sub-zero weather.

The reinstatement conference between employees and officials of the company. The spokesman for the latter was J. P. Pullman, general manager of the Public Service Co. who arrived here late Friday night from Milwaukee.

ARREST 55 TAXI DRIVERS IN NEW YORK CRIME DRIVE

New York—Fifty-five taxi drivers have been arrested and 1,500 served with summonses Saturday in a police roundup of criminals operating taxicabs without licenses.

Thirty-five were arrested in night court. Nine were sentenced to the workhouse for operating without licenses. Fines of $25 to $50 were imposed against the others.

The drive was a result of the revelation of conditions which followed the fatal shooting two weeks ago of Dennis J. Kenny, son of a wealthy Brooklyn contractor, by a chauffeur who was operating without a license and who had a criminal record.

GAS CAUSES DEATH OF FOREST CHIEF'S WIFE

All gas jets of the kitchen ranges were open and an attempt had been made to stop up cracks in doors, according to police. Besides her husband, a minor daughter survives.

COOLIDGE DUE FOR TROUBLE AFTER MAR. 4

Postponement of Action on Warren Would Be Concession of Defeat

DEMOCRATS ARE INACTIVE

Opponents of Nomination Will Try to Force Open Session

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge's troubles with congress will not end March 4. Decision of administration leaders to postpone action on the nomination of Charles R. Warren to be attorney general is a concession of defeat if the nomination were to come to a vote at the present session. The Republican party has a wider margin in the new senate and leaders think they have enough votes. Unquestionably they have at the moment sufficient pledges to win. But the opponents of Mr. Warren are trying hard to force the fight into the open, and they hope to change votes by a spectacular fight.

The Democrats have been more or less inactive since the autumn election. They have not been disposed to bombard the Republican executive with resolutions. The insurgents, however, are full of fight and resentment largely due to the efforts of Republican leaders to exclude them from the party councils and read them out of the party altogether.

MINORITY HAS INFLUENCE

Majority vote is an important factor in the house of representatives but the minority exercises a great deal of influence always in the senate. The opponents of Mr. Warren think they can debate the issue and rally public opinion to their side. The strategy of the president's friends is to avoid debate and keep the nomination from being acted on in open session of the senate.

When the new senate meets, the opponents of the Warren nomination will try to force an open session but the majority party would easily be able to keep the senate in executive session. Anticipating such a development, there may be speeches between now and March 4, with the idea of raising enough dust to compel open sessions.

Most of the opposition to Mr. Warren is due to his alleged connection with the sugar "trust" organization. He is represented by his critics as too friendly to big business to be attorney general.

WARREN IS ABLE LAWYER

Mr. Warren, however, has the absolute confidence of the president and is considered one of the ablest lawyers available for the portfolio. He has represented the government as ambassador to Japan and as ambassador to Mexico handling some of the most delicate problems of diplomacy. He has, of course, been active in politics. He was chairman of the platform committee at the Republican national convention in Cleveland and instrumental in swinging the Michigan delegation from Uram Johnson in the national convention at Chicago which nominated Harding in 1920.

MILWAUKEE DRY SLEUTHS SEIZE LOAD OF ALCOHOL

Assembly Adopts Measure Favoring Labor Insurance

Wisconsin Lawmakers Will Back Proposed Increase in Postal Employees' Pay

By Associated Press
Madison—The assembly before proceedings were stopped by the call of the house and subsequent adjournment, adopted the Duncan resolution inviting the American Federation of Labor to establish its proposed insuring department in Wisconsin. It also adopted the Weber resolution declining the offer of war trophies from the federal government and the Jensen resolution memorializing congress to pass and the president to approve the proposed increase in postal employees' salaries.

Assemblyman Perry introduced a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting members of the legislature from being appointed or employed during the legislative term to any other office or position in the state service which carries any salary or remuneration. It would not invalidate appointments already made and would not apply to any elective offices or those for which the appointee would be reimbursed only for expenses without salary or per diem. The proposal would be referred to the voters in November 1925.

Miss Mildred Barber offered a bill to conference on civil and criminal jurisdiction on the county court of Marathon.

After the adjournment Mr. Perry and Mr. Price came to an agreement naming Tuesday as the time when the Barber resolution to grant power of subpoena to the visiting committee would be taken up. This agreement was made in the presence of C. E. Shaffer, chief clerk.

Formal action to concur in the agreement will be taken Monday.

40 Merchants Cooperate To Hold Dollar Day Sales

Wednesday, Feb. 18, will be an important day for the buying public of Appleton and its vicinity, for on that day Appleton merchants will hold their semi-annual dollar day sale. Shoppers are sufficiently familiar with the savings that are possible on these buying festivals to make extensive comments on them unnecessary.

SHOT EARLY IN DAY

Splendid roads which lead to Appleton make it possible for buyers to come from miles around and they will be here in enormous numbers to take advantage of the many buying opportunities that will be offered. This large number of outside shoppers who surely will take advantage of this rare chance to make a dollar go an exceptionally long way will fill the stores during the late morning and this afternoon shopping hours, therefore it behooves Appleton people to do their shopping as early in the day as possible. The stores will not be crowded in the early hours and sales people will have a greater opportunity to cater to wants of shoppers. Stocks also will be more complete in the early hours, affording a larger selection of the extensive values that will be offered.

VETERAN CHIEF DIES IN BLAZE WELDING HOSE

Flames Get Start in Films Tinsel and Decorations, Is Theory

Loss of $1,500,000 Estimated on Exhibits, $650,000 on Building

By Associated Press
Kansas City, Mo.—Fire starting in films decorations supposed to have started in the American Royal Livestock pavilion, valued at $800,000, early Saturday. All of the exhibits at the annual Kansas City motor show were a total loss. The show had closed for the night, and no one was in the building when the fire broke out. The exhibits were to have been moved to San Francisco for a showing there late this month. Firemen were hampered in their work because of the lack of water plugs near the building, and it was several minutes before they could play streams of water on the building which was a mass of flames when the first companies arrived. The explosion of gasoline tanks on the exhibits also held the fire fighters in check.

WALLS FALL IN

Within two hours after firemen from the two Kansas Cities were called to fight the blaze, the walls fell in.

A wooden balcony, constructed in the main building and on which many high priced cars were exhibited, hastened the spread of the fire. As the balcony gave way the cars hurtled down on to other on the arena floor.

The pavilion owned by the American Royal Livestock association was dedicated Nov. 19, 1922, and was considered the finest of its kind in the country.

CAPTAIN IS KILLED

Capt. John J. Crane, 65, the old fireman on the department, was caught on an incline between the annex and the main building where he was attempting to work a hose, and was burned to death. Firemen who had noted his disappearance found the body when they penetrated the ruins. Captain Crane headed the only horse-drawn company remaining in the department.

Three hundred pleasure cars, approximately seventy-five trucks and two airplanes were burned. In addition, the exhibits of about 200 accessory manufacturers were destroyed.

The ghosts of the recently proud kings of the motor world, it seemed shrieked and moaned from the inferno when sirens and horns on the city streets were set off as insurance hurled from switches and whirled. Many of the exhibits were not stock cars but specially designed by the manufacturers so that persons visiting the show could examine working parts. Five nickel plated chassis, built especially for show purposes and valued at $20,000 each, were destroyed.

SEVEN RACING HORSES WORTH $40,000 BURNED

By Associated Press

Feet Of Prison

GIRL LEADS RAID WHEN MOTHER DIES OF ALLEGED LIQUOR

Philadelphia, Pa.—Finding her mother dead in bed, a 15-year-old girl early Saturday led a police raid on a saloon where she asserted her mother had obtained a pint of liquor Friday night. The bartender was arrested and held pending an analysis of the liquor. Police said the proprietor of the saloon at present is serving a 30-day sentence for illegal sale of liquor. The girl, Sarah Kilfeather, said that her mother had purchased the liquor for a "Friday the thirteenth" party. Coroner Patton declared that should death be found due to alcoholism the vendor of the liquor would be held for murder.

REQUEST FOR FUNDS CASTS LIGHT UPON PLANE CONTROVERSY

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—An indirect contribution to the controversy over the relative value of aircraft and battleships was seen Saturday in the budget bureau proposal for a $30,000,000 appropriation to carry out authorized naval construction including $9,000,000 for modernization of six of the older battleships. The bureau before Director Lord presented the proposal to the house Friday had taken up with the navy department the report of the navy general board on its study of the relative values of aircraft, battleships and submarines as naval weapons. President Coolidge at whose request the study was made, is understood to have referred to the bureau the report which is now in his hands and is expected to be made public next week to add fuel to the present controversy.

ROOT HAS FAITH IN FUTURE OF AMERICA

By Associated Press
New York—Elihu Root at a dinner tendered him Friday night by the Union League club of New York of which he has twice been president declared that in retiring from public life, he had faith that the United States will prosper and progress under its present democratic form of government. The dinner was in celebration of Mr. Root's eightieth birthday anniversary which will be Sunday.

Eulogies of Mr. Root's career were spoken by Charles Evans Hughes, secretary of state, and James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States.

Overwhelmed by ovations, Mr. Root could at first say only "I have done what came to my hand to do as well as I could."

Mr. Root affirmed his devotion to the United States government as it is today and said that the American people are more competent now to carry out their duties as citizens than they were when he first launched upon a public career.

Latest Test Fails to Strike Rock Cap of Sand Cave, Is Report

SAFEGUARD PIT DIGGERS

Take Unusual Precautions to Guard Against Collapse of Crust

Cave City, Ky.—The following official bulletin on the situation at Sand Cave was issued at 12.30 P. M.: "Another test was made when the shaft reached 55 feet. It was hoped at that distance we would hit solid rock to hold the shaft in position. However we did not strike the rock and as a precautionary measure the shaft is now being tamped into position to keep it from slipping down. It is being swung from the top of the ground. The shaft now is within five or ten feet of the complete depth. At that time it was impossible to tell when the tunneling would be started. No changes was indicated in the estimated time that Collins would be reached about 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Another official bulletin issued at 12.35 o'clock was:

"On account of the nature of the material at the bottom of the shaft, we are taking the extra precaution of swinging this cribbing on four three quarter inch cables fastened to 20x12 logs which are anchored on solid ground. This extraordinary precaution is being used in the event the limestone ledge at the bottom of the shaft is not of sufficient thickness to carry the weight of the cribbing. This will prevent any possibility or likelihood of cribbing falling into the supposed 50 foot cavern which Floyd Collins spoke of and which might be in the near vicinity of the shaft."

Men in the natural passage to Sand Cave talked to men in the rescue shaft being sunk toward Floyd Collins, entombed cave explorer, while making soundings at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

"H. T. Carmichael and Albert Marshall, a miner went to the bottom of the shaft and held distinct conversation with Ed Brenner and two other men who were in the passage as far as the cavern," said an official statement.

"It is estimated that we will reach Collins in approximately 20 hours provided no other difficulties occur. We still have six more feet before we reach the original limestone top, believed to be the roof of the cavern, leading to Collins."

The shaft, according to Mr. Carmichael, will tap Sand Cave between Collins and the point where the cavern occurred in the natural passage last week. The point between the cavern and Collins was estimated at 20 feet. The penetration of Sand Cave will be in front of Collins. Previously, it had been believed that it would be behind Collins.

UNIONS LOSE MANY OF THEIR MEMBERS IN LAST 3 YEARS

Trade Organizations Decline in Membership by 1,331,500

New York — The total membership of trade unions in the United States increased from 447,000 in 1922 to 3,779,000 in 1924, according to advanced figures taken from a report to be issued early in December by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc., of this city, under the title "The Growth of American Trade Unions, 1880-1924."

The largest membership recorded in one year was in 1923, when 3,116,500 were enrolled in trade unions. The membership in 1921 was 453,400 and in 1922, 405,400.

The findings in this report, which required two years for its preparation, have been approved by the board of directors of the bureau.

Summarizing the tables in the formal report, a statement authorized by the bureau reads in part as follows:

"During roughly the last half century the membership in American trade unions has twice reached stilling peaks, from which it has later descended. The first peak was achieved in 1887 when membership rose to about 1,000,000 and the second in 1920 when it exceeded 3,000,000. In each case the labor movement failed to hold its maximum numbers."

"After 1887 the losses were so great that membership in the early nineties was probably only a couple hundred thousand, and since 1920 the unions have lost more than one and a quarter millions."

"The two situations are not, however, analogous. The labor movement of the eighties was a labor movement in the process of finding itself; it was torn by internal conflict, and it was engaged in finding the form and methods of effective organization. The resolution of these forces of internal dissension and the realization of some of the aims of the movement led to a program of development left the movement in the middle nineties small, but started on a new career. Thereafter the rise in members has been almost continuous and has always been large."

"The first great break came with the industrial depression of 1902 and has lasted for most unions through 1924. In this last year, however, the labor movement has still a membership of close to 4,000,000, roughly 1,000,000 greater than it was in the years before the World war and more than 3,000,000 above the membership in 1897, when the movement may be said to have entered upon its present phase."

"In the years before the war, when membership rose from about 450,000 to 2,750,000, the gains from year to year were made by the craft unions in the building trades, steam railroads and printing industries, and by the coming into power of the United Mine Workers. In fact, in almost the whole of this period, nearly half of the total membership was to be found in the transportation and building groups, while the rest were scattered over all other industries and services. Only in a few places like the coal mines and glass and stone industries was there a like concentration of union membership."

"This condition changed quite radically in the years from 1915 to 1920 by the extensive spread of unionism among the semi-skilled and unskilled and into industries hitherto almost totally unorganized."

"Partly as a result of the temporary effects of industrial depression and partly the effect of the permanent liquidation of war industries, the period from 1920 to 1923 was one of falling membership. In the drop practically all labor organizations shared."

"Those which had been most heavily represented the war industries and which had experienced the most substantial gains, were in the period of deflation the heaviest losers. The metal and transportation unions alone contributed about 60 percent of the total loss in this period. The textile and packing house unions lost about as much as they had gained."

"As before, the established organizations of skilled craftsmen, like the railway brotherhoods, the trade unions of skilled workers in the building trades, like the bricklayers' union, and the United Mine Workers retained what they had won."

"The rest of the unions appear to be in 1923 on a slightly higher level of membership than they were in the pre-war years, but they so far remain much below what they had achieved in 1920. In the clothing industry alone, among the industries which were weak in labor organization before the war, is unionism now on a new and higher level than that of 1914."

"The chemical, food, iron and steel, metal and textile industries are now as they have been for many years, in the main poorly organized. Aggregate memberships in these industries is substantial, but in proportion to the number employed in them it is slight."

Comic Valentine Gone Same Way As Dodo Bird

What has become of those kindly muskies that once burdened the mail on St. Valentine's day? The schoolroom with gingerbread curls and octagonal glasses; the politician with flowing mustaches and plug hat the town drunk with battered derby and bulbous nose?

Take a look on College-ave at the display of valentines this year. It is true that one may see many pretty things upon which are inscribed love poems and literary whatnots. But what of the virile colored resemblances? Passed in the same direction as the dodo bird, stationers say.

Time was when the old fashioned valentine brought thrills aplenty on Feb. 14. An exchange of comics sometimes resulted in an exchange of shots.

St. Valentine, according to historians, was a very kindly man who met his death while trying to aid others. What connection the martyr had with sending missives of an amorous character in the early days, is a mystery that remains unsolved. Some historians say that the sending of valentines was popular about the time Nero bought his first box of matches.

At any rate Valentine day is here again. Hearts will palpitate as usual when the mailman arrives Johnny will go to school with a shingle in his trousers, and teacher will be cautious of suspicious looking missives.

Sheiks Make Shebas Pay For Postage

Salesman Sam's "boner" of sending a New Year's greeting to Guzzlem in a telegram marked collect has a peer in the practice of some Appleton sheiks in the opinion of letter carriers. That practice is sending a valentine to one's sheik—and commencing to place a stamp on the envelope.

Saturday is St. Valentine's day but most persons afflicted with the symptoms generally revealed on this day have been active in this respect for several days in advance. And with the early mailing of valentines there is many a case of short paid postage.

While the criticism of postage on the affixing of insufficient postage on valentine mail is merely an oversight carriers consider it the height of imudence not only because the desired effect is lost, but also because carriers must sometimes foot the bill.

When rural carriers start out on their daily runs they settle for all "short paid" postage on the mail they handle. While making their route they occasionally find some delay in collecting for the short paid postage, but if the addressee is not to be reached that day the little fun may be forgotten on their.

Statistics at the Appleton postoffice show that short paid postage here last year amounted to $550.50. Some of the short paid mail slips by unafforded therefore the department is making special effort this year to watch this loss. It is the policy of a postoffice to collect from the sender the insufficient postage on all mail that is not of the first class.

The Weather

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday. Somewhat colder Sunday.

GENERAL WEATHER
A low pressure area which was centered north of Lake Superior Saturday morning is moving eastward. It is causing south to southwest winds over the upper Mississippi valley and upper Lake Michigan. It will cause a rise in temperature here tonight. It is followed by higher pressure in the far northwest with, so far, no important temperature changes, but with generally fair weather. This eastward movement indicates generally fair weather in this section over the weekend, with somewhat cooler weather again on Sunday.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

Two Valentine's Days are really crowded into one—the lovers' festival and the religious side.

The ancients believed that the birds selected their mates on Feb. 14. Hence this date was observed as lovers' day among the Romans, some 2000 years ago.

As a lover's festival, Valentine's Day reached its greatest popularity in England five centuries ago. The custom of sending valentines likely started with the ancient practice of putting names of unmarried young men and women in a box.

Then there was a "Love's Lottery," in which the names were drawn out in pairs on Valentine's Day.

Thus affinites were discovered and became each other's valentines for a year—until the next lottery.

Early in the history of the Christian church, Feb. 14 acquired the religious significance.

There were eight saints and martyrs named Valentine, in various parts of the world. The greatest of the Valentines were a priest in Rome and a bishop in Umbria, who lived about 1700 years ago.

The first valentine sold in America was patterned after one received from Enchanted in 1349 by Esther Howland, daughter of a Worcester (Mass.) stationer.

BANK TAX CASE IS BEFORE HIGH COURT

Madison — Bankers throughout Wisconsin are watching with interest the case of the First National bank of Hartford, against the city of Hartford which was argued in the state supreme court Saturday, attorneys here for the argument said. The case is a test of the state's right to tax national bank stock.

The Business Man and His Will

The most Convenient Time

MANY business men find that important business and personal matters constantly prevent them from carrying out their intentions to make a will. The "most convenient time" for making a will rarely arrives for the active business man.

In order to care for this important matter, most busy men find that it is necessary to arrange their affairs carefully and to follow some definite plan.

If you have not made your will, you should take the first step today, by preparing a definite plan. Write down on your calendar the day you will attend to this vital matter. Do it today, if possible.

Your family's future welfare and happiness depend upon your making a will, and especially do they depend upon the provisions you will make to protect and conserve the real and personal property you leave.

E. A. Morse and W. A. Fannon Declare Income Tax As-
essment Is Illegal

An action to striking from the income assessment rolls $59,234.68 now listed as income has been commenced by Dr. E. A. Morse and William A. Fannon of Appleton. Upon their petition, Judge Edgar V. Werner has writs of certiorari directing John E. Hantschel, county clerk and as such clerk of the income tax board of review, to certify to the circuit court all records relating to the matter in controversy.

The petitioners represented by Attorney Homer Benton, are attempting to have set aside decisions of the assessor, the income tax board of review and the state tax commission on what they regard as an illegal tax and a violation of the constitution and statutes. As a means of deciding what disposition shall be made of the case, the court has directed Mr. Hantschel, the respondent, to furnish a transcript of the board's proceedings and so much of the assessment rolls as pertain to the matter.

SUSTAIN ASSESSOR
On or about Oct. 6, 1924, the county income tax board of review consisting of A. H. Krugmeier, J. G. Hildebrand and Otto W. Schaefer sustained Leo J. Toonen assessor of incomes, in his assessment of the income in dispute, and when the men appealed to the state tax commission that body ratified the decision. The petitioners assert that the enforcement of the assessment by taxation means taking away private property for public use without compensation and due process of law and denies the taxpayers the equal protection of laws guaranteed by the federal constitution.

The issue at stake is whether appreciation of assets are taxable to stockholders of corporations if issued in the form of stock dividends. There are said to be twelve similar cases in the state that are under controversy. A test case has been started in Milwaukee by stockholders of the Hanson Storage company of Milwaukee.

Dr. Morse and Mr. Fannon in petitioning for the writ of certiorari asserted that their gross income had been increased by $29,647.34 in each case. This is expounded in their statement of the history of the case.

INCREASED CAPITAL
In the year 1920 the Valley Iron works of which they were stockholders increased its capital stock from $200,000 to $400,000 by increasing the number of shares from 4,000 to 8,000, each having a par value of $50. The same year a 10 per cent stock dividend was issued and paid to the stockholders. Of this $200,000 dividend, $72,932.99 was earned surplus on which the Valley Iron works had previously paid income tax, it was pointed out. The remaining $127,067.01 was carried as appreciation of the company's assets on the company's books based upon an appraisal made of the physical assets of the company.

Mr. Fannon and Dr. Morse each owned $40,666.67 worth of stock in 1920 and on Dec. 31 of that year they each received a stock dividend for that amount. Of this amount $17,019.33 is described as each petitioner's pro rata share of the actual earnings of the company as surplus and on which income tax had already been paid by the company. The balance of $29,647.34 for each petitioner is appreciation of assets of the company based upon an appraisal of the company's physical assets.

On Feb. 3, 1921, the petitioners sold their stock for $70,000 each, thereby netting a profit of $10,500 each, and it was so reported in their income tax returns. Stock amounting to $29,647.34 of the dividend received Dec. 31, 1920, is not income for the reason that the stock was based upon an appreciation of physical assets and was never earned by the company. It is set forth if the sum is to be considered as income of the Valley Iron works and should be taxable against the company, and not against the individual stockholders, it is asserted. The stock having a par value of $50 a share was according to its market value in 1920 worth only $35 a share, it is stated.

City Broke Agreement, Naylor Says

The lumps on the campus recently turned off by action of the city council will remain unlighted if the college must furnish the lighting power, according to Acting-president Wilson S. Naylor. "The college does not intend to furnish lights which were broken by the city," he said.

"A public thoroughfare runs through the campus," Dr. Naylor explained, "and before the lights were placed there in 1918 many of the citizens of Appleton complained of the darkness. The college went to the expense of placing the lights there on the condition that the city would furnish power. If the city chooses to break that agreement now, the walks will remain unlighted."

Two lamps are located in front of Main hall, lighting the walks connecting B. Alton and E. College-ave. "After dark the walks are used more by city people than by college students," he declared. "All the people from Alton-st and vicinity use these walks to go to the business section and return home."

The college was not notified of the council action, Dr. Naylor said. The lights were just switched off. And until the city takes further action, town and college people will stumble through a dark campus.

THE LEGISLATURE AND TAXES

Senator Morris of Milwaukee announces that he will introduce in the legislature a bill providing for a 25 per cent reduction in income taxes of all persons, firms and corporations in Wisconsin, commencing with the payment for the year 1924; that is, on the returns to be made this year. Here at last we have a tax proposal which is to the point. In the face of a general policy of economy throughout the country, in which the federal government has taken the lead, the political organization at Madison which is running the affairs of this state has been contriving to increase income taxation.

Income tax reduction in Wisconsin is not only desirable, but may be undertaken with a consistent regard for the revenue needs of the state. It was a more difficult matter for the federal government to reduce taxes than it would be for Wisconsin. The federal government has an enormous war indebtedness and a congressional and political atmosphere calculated to spend every dollar that can be raised. The president, however, had the good judgment and courage to set his foot down and demand genuine retrenchment. Scores of millions of dollars were lopped off the annual expenditures and still further reductions are to be made. So effectively was the pruning knife applied that a reduction of 25 per cent in personal income taxes was made possible last year, and another 25 per cent reduction is contemplated this year. It would have been much easier for the president to permit spending to go on so far as his popularity and standing with influential politicians were concerned, and this is what a weaker man would have done, but the president placed the national interest first and held to his position regardless of pressure.

It would be much easier to do at Madison what has been done at Washington. We have no war indebtedness in this state, in fact no indebtedness. Our revenues are more than we require for legitimate uses and are considerably larger than would be necessary if genuine economy were put into effect. Instead, therefore, of trying to figure out ways to increase the income tax on corporations and individuals, we ought to embark on a policy of tax reduction. No better thing could be done by our legislators and our governor for the stimulation of industry and enhancement of prosperity in Wisconsin than to make this tax reduction. It would not only accelerate business activity, but it would be reassuring to the extensive industrial interests which view the future with misgivings and which in many instances seriously consider removing from the state. It would take much of the curse off the bad reputation Wisconsin has in the outside industrial and financial world.

Opposed to the plan to reduce income taxation in Wisconsin is another which is being quietly put through the legislature to increase taxation. This scheme would do away with the personal property offset, a change that in some instances would double taxation and in all instances increase it materially. Although there is provision for a reduction in corporation rates, the removal of the personal property offset would much more than make up for this apparent reduction. Finally, there is the proposal to tax dividends of the individual after they have been taxed at the source.

These changes, should they be made, coupled with high inheritance taxes, would unquestionably increase the prej-dice against residence in Wisconsin by men of affairs with large incomes. It would also increase the prejudice against investing capital in Wisconsin and against expanding businesses already established. This is not the road to industrial and commercial prosperity, nor to the prosperity of the people at large. That road is clearly in the direction of reduced taxes and economy in government. A 25 per cent reduction in income taxes in Wisconsin instead of an increase is what we should have, and there is no reason in the world why we should not, and every reason in the world why we should, have it.

SELF EXPRESSION

Some of the "intellectuals" entertain the idea that young people should be given a wider latitude to "express themselves." If your neighbor's precocious offspring is able to demonstrate his superior abilities as a marksman, only by using your shed windows for target practice, these thinkers would smile tolerantly and plead for the boy to have his fair chance for "self expression." "If you interfere with Johnny" they would insist, "you heap up a dangerous force of suppressed desire in his soul, which eventually might break loose in some dangerous revolt."

All which may sound plausible. Yet doubt will be felt if the epidemic of crime now menacing the country is due to too much suppressed desire. It looks rather as if desires had not been sufficiently repressed. The young toughs who terrorize city streets and get away in yellow triumph with other people's hard earned money, perhaps had too much self-expression in early youth. Perhaps they began by expressing a lawless spirit through stealing fruit and burning the fences of unpopular neighbors in July fourth bonfires. Their fathers at that time might well have taken a hand in the game of self-expression, expressing their views of such doings by a suitable award of the traditional discipline of the woodshed.

These youngsters would probably have concluded in that case, that it would be more interesting to express their activity along more conventional lines, such as playing good games like baseball and football or earning money for wholesome fun and self-improvement. If boys can be carried past that critical age when they feel the superiority of their own wisdom, they are likely to put on the harness of useful toil, and express their better natures by becoming useful men and citizens.

NECESSITY MAKES US WORK

The publishers of "Who's Who," a list of people who have done something, now issue another volume of "First Families," a list of those whose ancestors did something.

Comparison of the two lists is interesting. In a certain city, for instance, enumerating 42 "first families," only six of these appear in "Who's Who."

The others are mostly fine people, too, whether because "blood tells" or because only the successful preserve the archives of their progenitors.

But few of them have repeated the achievements which made their forebears worth recording. Evidently the presumed inheritance of capacity to do things too often carries with it exemption from the need of doing so.

The spur of necessity is a good thing for most of us.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

THE GETAWAY.

SOMEONE shakes the furnace down and throws some new coal in. Other folks start moving 'round, aroused by furnace din. Father lights the water tank and turns the fire up high. These things happen, you can bank, each time a night drifts by.

Early in the morning does the household hop from bed. Then there is a constant buzz as things are done and said. Sister Sue curls her hair, and Luck must shine his shoes. Mother helps them, here and there, with a gasp gets more confused.

Breakfast coffee's shortly made, and eggs are put to fry. Speed, in all things, must be made for time is flying by. Round to table soon they sit and gulp a breakfast down. Each one makes the best of it, then hurries off to town.

Three "godnas" are quickly said, and mother waves a hand. Then the home work goes ahead, as mothers understand. Just a little story that is fitting for a poem. Just the way they start the day in that most any home.

WHEN CHOREA COMES BACK.

Like erysipelas, minor chorea (St. Vitus's dance) is an infectious disease an attack of which confers no immunity against subsequent attacks. One in every four cases has a recurrence, and in about 4 per cent of the cases there are two or three attacks in successive years. The favorite season for chorea is the spring, when the child's resistance is reduced to its lowest point by a hard winter of coddling at home and nagging and repression at school. Just how these conditions increase a child's susceptibility to chorea, an infectious disease, I don't know, but this is the view of physicians who are qualified by experience with the disease. Parents who have seen a child develop chorea know that a preliminary period of irritability, tendency to whine about trifles, naughtiness and awkwardness unlike the child's ordinary behavior introduces the illness.

When we say St. Vitus's dance is infectious, we do not mean that it is contagious or communicable as diphtheria, or the cri, but merely that it is caused by the entrance, growth and multiplication within the body of disease germs. Malaria is infectious but not contagious or communicable except through the agency of the intermediary carrier, the Anopheles mosquito. So called inflammatory rheumatism (otherwise known as articular rheumatism, rheumatic fever, acute multiple arthritis) is infectious but not contagious or communicable. It has not yet been determined that chorea is caused by a specific germ, that is, by a germ which produces nothing else but chorea; the probability is that the germ responsible is the notorious Streptococcus or certain strains of Streptococcus which have somehow developed a selective affinity for parts of the nervous system such as ganglion cells. This specialization of certain disease producing germs is a well recognized fact.

Now it is necessary to know that there is a striking association or connection between the following diseases: Scarlet fever, tonsillitis, quinsy, simple sore throat, endocarditis (inflammation of the lining of the heart), valvular disease (due to endocarditis), arthritis (inflammation of the lining of joints), and chorea minor (St. Vitus's dance). Any of the last four diseases may develop as a complication or sequel to any of the first four. The secret of this intimate multiple relationship is—none other than the indefatigable Streptococcus.

Knowing the villainous versatility of this germ, physicians generally prescribe rest in bed in illnesses, mild though the symptoms may seem at the moment. In which they suspect the Streptococcus of having a hand, and they do this not only to gain the advantage of better resistance to the invader but to lessen the chance of some such complication as endocarditis or chorea. Many cases of valvular heart disease have their origin in a comparatively slight attack of tonsillitis or sore throat, which did not seem severe enough to the parents or to the patient himself to warrant remaining at rest in bed during the acute stage of the illness. Many cases of chorea might be prevented if this general advice of physicians were more carefully heeded by parents in the care of children with slight illnesses.

From the nature of Streptococcus, whose toxin of poisonous excretion seems to produce no such serious reaction on the part of the blood as other disease germ toxins do, it has been found impossible to develop an effective antitoxin or antistreptococcal serum, although many pathologists have labored long to achieve such a boon. From the nature of the Streptococcus you will understand why chorea "comes back" a second time in one-fourth of the cases, and even a third time in a few cases.

Please give the formula for the corn cure you suggested some time ago. I do not mean the last one you printed, but one that had colloidon and some kind of oil (Mrs. W. M. H.).

Answer.—Paint the corn once daily for a week or two with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in one-half ounce of colloidon flexible. Of course a corn will return if the original cause, friction and pressure by improper footwear, is not removed. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

Just how these conditions increase a child's susceptibility to chorea, an infectious disease, I don't know, but this is the view of physicians who are qualified by experience with the disease. Parents who have seen a child develop chorea know that a preliminary period of irritability, tendency to whine about trifles, naughtiness and awkwardness unlike the child's ordinary behavior introduces the illness.

When we say St. Vitus's dance is infectious, we do not mean that it is contagious or communicable as diphtheria, or the cri, but merely that it is caused by the entrance, growth and multiplication within the body of disease germs. Malaria is infectious but not contagious or communicable except through the agency of the intermediary carrier, the Anopheles mosquito. So called inflammatory rheumatism (otherwise known as articular rheumatism, rheumatic fever, acute multiple arthritis) is infectious but not contagious or communicable. It has not yet been determined that chorea is caused by a specific germ, that is, by a germ which produces nothing else but chorea; the probability is that the germ responsible is the notorious Streptococcus or certain strains of Streptococcus which have somehow developed a selective affinity for parts of the nervous system such as ganglion cells. This specialization of certain disease producing germs is a well recognized fact.

Now it is necessary to know that there is a striking association or connection between the following diseases: Scarlet fever, tonsillitis, quinsy, simple sore throat, endocarditis (inflammation of the lining of the heart), valvular disease (due to endocarditis), arthritis (inflammation of the lining of joints), and chorea minor (St. Vitus's dance). Any of the last four diseases may develop as a complication or sequel to any of the first four. The secret of this intimate multiple relationship is—none other than the indefatigable Streptococcus.

Knowing the villainous versatility of this germ, physicians generally prescribe rest in bed in illnesses, mild though the symptoms may seem at the moment. In which they suspect the Streptococcus of having a hand, and they do this not only to gain the advantage of better resistance to the invader but to lessen the chance of some such complication as endocarditis or chorea. Many cases of valvular heart disease have their origin in a comparatively slight attack of tonsillitis or sore throat, which did not seem severe enough to the parents or to the patient himself to warrant remaining at rest in bed during the acute stage of the illness. Many cases of chorea might be prevented if this general advice of physicians were more carefully heeded by parents in the care of

TROOP 2 PATROLS ARE TO COMPETE IN SCOUT RALLY

Big Gathering Will Take Place March 5 and Public Will Be Invited to Attend

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Arrangements have been completed for the big rally of boy scout troops No. 2, Thursday, March 5, in Knights of Columbus hall. The troop has been drilling for some time, and its weekly meeting in the city hall Thursday evening, and arrangements were made. Everything in which the members of the troop take part will be judged by a local board of examiners. These contests will include: signalling, two men; knot tying, one man; composition, one man; best dressed patrol, and an American's carry, two men.

In the signalling contest, one member of each patrol will signal a message given and unknown to him, while another member will receive it. The first aid and bandaging will be demonstrated by one member of each patrol upon one of his fellow scouts. The scouts will demonstrate practical first aid and bandaging, such as is applied in case of emergency.

One member of each patrol will take part in the knot tying contests, and one member of each patrol will write an essay of not less than 140 words and not over 150, on Why I Am A Scout.

The fireman's carry will be demonstrated by two scouts, one carrying the injured, or in getting some one out of a burning building or from a fire room. The neatest and best appearing patrol will be awarded a place.

These contests will be judged on a basis of first, second and third place. The prize of $5 is to the patrol with the highest number of first awards, $3 to the second, and $2 to the third. Prize money will be used by the patrols in a way that will benefit each member.

After the contests, a boy scout picture will be shown. Three have been sent for, in order to make sure that a good one will be obtained. Attorney Giles H. Putnam will deliver an address to the audience and the troop's new charter, together with the scoutmaster's new commission, will be presented.

The public is invited to attend the rally, and learn for itself the object of scouting. About 300 people were present at last year's rally. Cake and ice cream will be served following the program, but a collection will be taken to help defray expenses and replenish the troop treasury.

WAUPACA DOWNED BY RED AND WHITE CAGERS, 17 TO 9

Seventh Victory of Season Gives New London Chance in Appleton Tournament

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — New London high school basketball quintet swamped the Waupaca high school five by a score of 17 to 9, in the Knights of Columbus hall Friday evening. The game, although a good one, was not very fast, the Red and White not working as hard as usual. Waupaca, while death on free throws, was outclassed in every department of the game, the Red and White carrying the ball into Waupaca's territory at will.

Jillson, fast New London forward, starred as usual. Ladwig, Red and White star, was out of the game for the referee in the beginning of the last quarter, for four personal fouls. One Waupaca player was also put out of the game for being rough. The first quarter ended 7 to 1 in favor of New London, the half at 9 to 5 and the third period at 13 to 7 in favor of New London, which then brought up the total to 17 to Waupaca's 9.

Jillson made five baskets and three free throws for New London. Huntley made one basket, and Ladwig two free throws.

This makes New Londons seventh victory this season, out of a total of nine games. One game with Menasha, at New London, and one at Waupaca, will finish up the season for the Red and White, in two weeks. The local squad probably will go to the tournament at Appleton after the finish.

COAL PRICES WILL GO UP AS MINERS DEMAND MORE PAY

Babson Confident That Soft Coal Will Soon Increase in Price

Babson Park, Florida — In view of Mr. Babson's recent statement regarding commodities which are unusually cheap we have asked him to express himself on the bituminous coal situation. We are glad to present his reply this week which is as follows:
"I am bullish on the coal situation. It is well enough for the bears to talk about water power and various other things which are competing with coal, but no one needs to fear in ultimate overproduction of anything which supplies power or heat. Temporarily there may be a surplus of these things but, over any considerable period, an increase in the demand for power and heat is inevitable. Coal has always been the great factor in the production of power, and so far as we can now see, will be for many years to come. Most all heat is generated from coal. Even if gas becomes a great factor in cooking and heating this is still a bullish point on coal, because the gas is made from coal.
"Bituminous coal consumption should really be the best barometer of general manufacturing business. Nearly all our factories are run directly by coal, while most of those which are operated electrically are operated indirectly by coal. The other best barometer of business is Bank Clearings, or Check Transactions as they are properly called; that is, the amount of checks cashed in any community. In view of this situation, the following statistics are of great interest:
Bank Clearings
Million of Dollars
1915—$187,818.
1916—201,856.
1917—306,947.
1918—332,345.
1919—417,785.
1920—452,357.
1921—356,434.
1922—404,576.
1923—431,500.
1924—462,112.
Bituminous Coal Production
Million Tons
1915—443.
1916—509.
1917—552.
1918—578.
1919—468.
1920—569.
1921—416.
1922—422.
1923—564.
1924—468.
"It will be seen from the above table that ordinarily check transactions and bituminous coal go up and down together but that 1924 has been an exception to the rule. Either check transactions have been too heavy compared to coal production, or the coal produced has been too little compared with check transactions. Personally, I believe that coal production is abnormally low at the present time and that higher prices will be seen during 1925.
"It must be remembered that in buying a ton of coal one does not really pay much of anything for the coal. Coal sells under ground, at say, five cents or less a ton. It is labor and transportation that we really pay for when buying coal—that is, we pay the cost of getting the coal up out of the mine, the cost of transporting it by rail, and the cost of delivering it to our homes. Without doubt wages are abnormally high in certain lines today and wage adjustments which started in 1924 will continue during 1925 in many lines of industry. Wage reductions in the textile industry, the shoe industry, and even the automobile industry are inevitable. It happens, however, that most all our mine workers have come from Southern Europe, which immigration is now restricted by law. Although there may be some temporary reductions in the wages of coal miners, yet so long as the present immigration laws are in force, wages as a whole will be higher rather than lower, in the coal industry. The same general reasoning applies to freight rates. Although the

Business Improves In Spite Of Seasonal Snag

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
New York — Much is being made of the fact that building operations sagged in January. It is being pointed out that the total of expenditures for building was less than December and less than January a year ago.
However, it must be remembered that in fitting the construction business into the general business situation, it is necessary to consider all sorts of construction and not merely building. It is quite possible that what is ordinarily understood by the word building may have fallen off. But this year is destined to see construction of another sort, public works of all sorts that will put as large a strain on our construction industry, probably as we saw in 1924. Besides these totals include only building in the cities and do not take in very extensive repairs and operations in rural districts which are expected to add largely to the total this year.

The fact remains that all of the generally accepted indices of business point upward. This is particularly true of retail sales. Definite figures are not yet obtainable. But such reports as are in, show a decided increase in the volume of sales.
Production also goes forward. Production of bituminous coal continued its advance and has now reached a point near the 1923 average. Prices however continue at low levels in this industry and show no signs of rising.
However, this price sagging is not seen anywhere else. Every reporting service agrees that commodity prices as a whole are advancing.
IRON AND STEEL
The Steel Corporation's 220,000-ton gain in unfilled orders in January and the report of the country's 13 per cent increase in daily rate of steel ingot production last month, made public on Tuesday, were both in line with forecasts. Of more moment to the steel trade are the current rate of new buying, the percentage of the present output of steel that is going into consumption, and that extent to which recent price advances can be established.
While the Corporation continues to operate at 94 per cent of capacity, some reductions in schedules have been made by independent companies at Youngstown, bringing down the general average to about five per cent under that of the second half of January.
The Chicago district, however, keeps up its remarkable pace, which pulled up the average for the country to 89 per cent of ingot capacity in January. The two leading producers there are running full, and with the blowing in of a third blast furnace at Joliet all but one out of 34 steel works furnaces in the Chicago territory are active.
COTTON
Supply and demand in the cotton market seems evenly balanced. There is no influence visible in the present crop which is not already gaged and nothing is in sight to materially affect the situation. Whatever new changes in present prices come will depend on the next crop.
The market has been more or less at a standstill for some weeks and authorities here believe that raw cotton freight rates may be reduced on grains and certain other commodities which are largely exported, and which we must sell in competition with foreign products, yet there is little prospect of reduced rates on coal. The railroads cannot afford to haul coal for any lower than they now are hauling it. As our cities are becoming more and more congested it is costing more and more to deliver the coal from the railroads to our homes. Our entire civilization is facing greater, rather than lower, labor, freight and delivery costs.

"In view of these facts together with the additional fact that general business is improving while coal consumption is remaining relatively low, one is led to believe that coal prices will inevitably rise after the seasonal-low point of the year is reached. This means that wise manufacturers, merchants, and householders will buy coal heavily this spring as the opportunity presents itself. From a seasonable point of view the lowest prices are in the spring and early summer. Sometimes there is an extension of this period, which seemed to be the case with bituminous coal prices throughout the entire year of 1924. This has made coal buyers careless. It should be remembered, however, that such conditions will not continue indefinitely. Because we could get coal at low prices any time during 1924 is no reason why this condition will exist in 1925 or 1926.
"The action of the Babson chart which now stands at 6 per cent above normal, is further evidence for believing increased activity and higher prices may be expected in the coal mining industry. No such discrepancy can long continue. If we were in the latter half of a period of prosperity I would say that general business as indicated by the Babson chart would quiet down rather than that coal activity would increase. Such conditions, however, do not now exist. Rather, we are now enjoying the reverse situation. The period of depression is coming to a close and we are entering a period of better times. In view of the fact greater activity and higher prices for bituminous coal, and possibly for anthracite also, may be expected before 1925 comes to a close."

CONTRACTOR HELPS HOME OWNERS PLAN LAWN LANDSCAPING

Henry Boldt Strives to Be of Greatest Assistance to His Customers

A building contractor who carries his desire to be of helpfulness to the home owner so that he will be as directly satisfied with his new surroundings to the extent of assisting him in planning the arrangement of his lawns and shrubbery is pretty much of an innovation. Henry Boldt, 1156 W. Eighth-st., one of the best known builders in the central Fox river valley, gives that service to his customers. Mr. Boldt believes beautiful homes should have beautiful surroundings and he is prepared to assist the home owner in making his home truly attractive.
Mr. Boldt's home on W. Eighth-st. is surrounded by splendid evergreens and it is one of the most attractive spots in the Third ward. Mr. Boldt has made a careful study of beautiful homes and has evolved a way in which it can be done at little expense.

Henry Boldt, as he is familiarly known to his host of friends, believes that a few beautiful evergreens as to Blue Spruce, Black Hill Spruce, Silver and Red Cedars and Arbor Vitae properly placed for lawn specimens and hedges are an asset to any home. Mr. Boldt also believes in the use of evergreen windbreaks and windbreaks on boulevards. Henry makes a special effort to start his customers right by doing landscape gardening for homes which he erects. Henry's long experience as a builder and contractor enables him to give efficient service in any building problem. He gives personal supervision to all work he contracts to do and tries to meet the most exacting requirements.
While most of Henry's attention is given to general building, he maintains a cabinet shop and is equipped for making cabinets and furniture specialties and for building and remodeling store and office fixtures.
Mr. Boldt's best recommendation has been the large number of satisfied customers that he has. A large part of his business is "repeat" orders from people that he has done work for in the last twenty years.
Mr. Boldt has built a large number of attractive residences in and about Appleton and his workmanship is seen in quite a number of prominent business blocks in the city.
Henry is a staunch believer in the use of proper insulation in erecting homes. He believes homes should be built that are cool and comfortable in summer and easy to keep warm in cold weather. Mr. Boldt also specializes in construction of special refrigerator and cooling rooms for homes and for business places and he gives personal attention to all his work.

There is no buying for spring stocks on the accustomed scale, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. The reason for the recent increase is undoubtedly the mild weather which sections of the middle West, and as prevailed in the North and here, which has stimulated building activities and other outdoor work. The continued excellent building situation in the South, the good industrial demand and the briskness of export markets combine with the first factor in creating a satisfactory situation.
Douglas fir is the only wood which can not be said to be in good position. It was largely in the heavy production in which the mills have been engaged than to actually poor demand. Double shifts have now been abandoned on the west Coast and many mills have restricted their running time to four or five days a week and this curtailment of output is expected to have a strengthening effect on the market. There is very little fir in stock, and the larger mills, which have not lost their confidence in the future, continue to hold their prices firm. It is mostly among the smaller mills, removed from the water and are not getting the benefit of cargo business, that prices have softened. Any improvement in the rail market will quickly bring a strengthening of prices.
Western pines, on the other hand are among the strongest woods. While current demand for these woods has dropped off a little, until recently the call was so heavy as to decrease stocks of many items to a point of absolute scarcity.

THE SILENT ACCUSER

A treat is in store for all those who patronize the Elite Theatre, today and Sunday, when "The Silent Accuser," the new Metro-Goldwyn production opened last night. A new dog star, Peter the Great, gives a remarkable performance, changing in an instant from a gentle animal to a snarling, fighting beast. The feature players include Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee and Earl McCallum.

The story, which tells of a dog's rescue of his master from the punishment incurred by another, has been translated to the screen in a most convincing manner by Chester M. Franklin, who, with assistant director Frank O'Connor, prepared the scenario from Jack Boyle's story. Charles Dreyer is responsible for the superb photography and Cedric Gibbons designed the settings. Sophie Wachner was costume designer.

Picture-goers who like novelty of plot and romantic situations have a genuine treat in store for them in coming to see advance reports in "The Man Without a Heart," which is coming to the New Appleton Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Based on the novel of the same name by Ruby M. Ayres, the well-known writer, "The Man Without a Heart" presents an intriguing romance of a brother who tries to kidnap the girl he believes is planning to elope with his sister's husband and then falls madly in love with her himself. How the situation works out, when he discovers that he has wronged the girl he loves, forms a series of situations of decided novelty and suspense.

The picture version of "The Man Without a Heart" has been made by Banner Productions, Inc., under the direction of Burton King and it is said to be replete with action, thrills and all the luxuries of sets, which are the requisites today of good screen entertainment.

Kenneth Harlan and Jane Novak, both of them established screen favorites of premier rank, head the all-star cast. The former ably portrays the deluged, fancy-free man of the west from whom the story takes its title while the latter charmingly plays the girl, who puts the skills of her bachelor rescuer.

NOTABLE CAST ACTS "SMOLDERING FIRES"

"Smouldering Fires," Universal Jewel Clarence Brown production, coming to the Elite Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday committee, and while the members are a particularly notable cast of this committee do not have much to do they are almost as well known as the stars and leading characters. Metcalf as leading man, and actors for they have been in motion picture Marshall, Wanda Hawley and pictures for many years. They are Helen Lynch in prominent parts. But Roach, Billie Gould, Rolfe and the fact that one of the comedians, Robert Mack and Frank necessities of the story is a show Newberg.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

ACHIEVEMENTS OF MOTOR INDUSTRY ARE REMARKABLE

Manufacturers Review Past on Occasion of Twenty Fifth Anniversary

This being the time of the Silver Jubilee of the automobile—just 25 years since the first automotive exhibit was held in this country—there is a tendency among those long identified with the industry to look backward over this quarter of a century and review the advancements that have been made in that comparatively brief period.

These achievements have been so remarkable that even the most forward-looking engineers hesitate to venture a guess as to what the popular transportation medium of 1950 will be like. Certainly if automotive science continues the pace set since 1900 the product 25 years hence cannot even be imagined.

Memory faintly recalls the early products of the infant automotive industry as little contraptions that made a lot of noise when they would run. Also that they stopped so frequently that the youth of that period created each car seen with a cry "get a horse." But memory fails to bring back in detail just how crude these machines were in comparison with present day cars.

The first company to commercially produce automobiles was the Olds Motor Works of Lansing, Michigan, who for a period of 28 years has been busily engaged in making and selling Oldsmobiles. A comparison of the early product of that company with its present 1925 models gives a definite picture of the advancement made by the industry.

In "The Horseless Age," which was the first name of "Automotive Industries," the present "trade magazine," and, incidentally, the first automotive trade publication, of February 12, 1902 issue appeared a description of the Oldsmobile from which the following extracts were taken:

"The Oldsmobile runabout must be termed a 'medium weight car' since it weighs in at 2,000 lbs. The body of the car has the lines of a runabout and a curved dash. The wheels are of the suspension type and shod with 28x2 1/2 single tube tires. All the machinery, tanks, the battery, etc., are in the rear part of the body; the engine being to the left of the center line of the carriage. A centrally located steering lever is provided to guide the machine, and all control levers operated by hand are on the right side of the seat and the operator, who grasps the steering lever with his left hand, the change speed lever with his right, and actuates the brake pedal with his right foot. On the extreme right side just back of the dash a small pedal is provided which controls the mixture and is used as a speed accelerator. A similar pedal near the head board, relieves compression when starting. The engine is of the single cylinder variety, with a bore of 4 1/2 inches and a stroke of 6 inches, and runs at a normal speed of about 600 revolutions per minute—power is transmitted from the shaft to the rear axle by means of a roller chain. The speed of an Oldsmobile on a good road is said to be at a rate of 20 miles per hour at maximum."

Compared to this is the present Oldsmobile with six cylinders capable of all speeds from one to 60 miles per hour in high gear; electrical equipment for all purposes and bodies more comfortable and luxurious than the average home of 1900. The basic principle of mixing air and gasoline vapor, combined with a cylinder and firing the mixture with a spark is about the only thing the present day automobile has in common with its predecessor of 25 years ago.

Safety has become of such primary importance in motorizing that owners are giving more consideration than ever before to safer types of motor cars, according to Mr. L. E. Corcoran, general sales manager of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

"Prudent owners now are demanding cars which are safe not only from the standpoint of pedestrians and others, but which afford the occupants themselves a high degree of protection," said Mr. Corcoran.

"Anyone who has driven or ridden in the larger, more substantially built type of motor car has experienced a sense of almost complete immunity from danger. A larger, more stable car is safer than in the same way as a well-built cruiser is safer than a flimsy canoe."

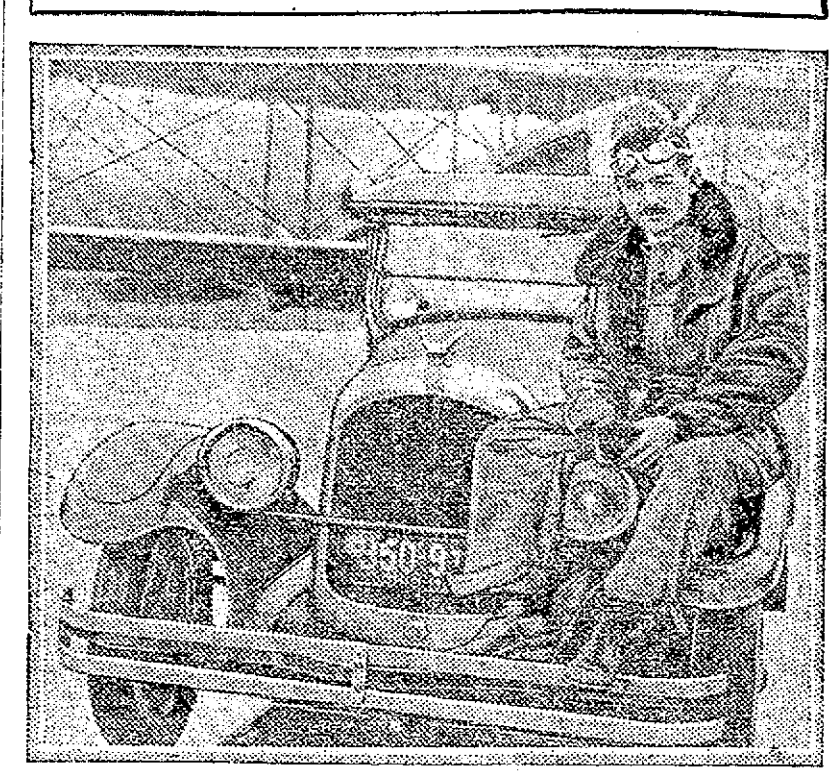

"For that reason, an increasing number of motor car buyers are regarding the higher first cost of the better class of automobiles as a sensible form of insurance which protects themselves and their families, as well as others."

Mr. Corcoran assigned the factor of increased safety one of the reasons for the unprecedented demand for Pierce-Arrow's high-priced Sedan 33 car during the past year.

TRAFFIC BURDEN TOO GREAT FOR POLICE UNDAID

Every City Should Have Planning Commission Under Modern Conditions

The day has passed when the entire burden for the responsibility of a city's traffic conditions can be placed upon a municipality's police department, says Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Maxwell-Chrysler Corporation.

All praise to the police of America. In working out practical means to relieve traffic congestion they have done marvelously well. Imagine what New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Kansas City and our other great cities would be like without traffic control. Chaos would be the result.

But while one-way streets, synchronized control, elimination of left-hand turns, full-stop streets and other hundred and one regulations which have been devised by the police have been remarkably effective in bettering traffic conditions, it is not enough. The time is here for American cities to take stock of themselves. To be specific:

Our American cities were designed in the days of horse-drawn vehicles and slowly moving horsedrawn street cars.

But this is the age of motor cars. The automobile is today the principal and accepted means of transportation of the American people.

There was a time when this statement could be disputed. But it can't be today.

It is possible to load half of the population of the United States in the registered motor vehicles of the country.

But 2,000,000 of the nation's population could be piled into all the existing railroad day coaches and sleeping cars of the country.

The city of today must be adapted to meet this new means of transportation. Every city should have a city planning commission made up of men with imagination and vision.

The city without such a commission is lagging behind. Chambers of commerce, boards of trade, merchants' associations and the like should co-operate in seeing to it that city planning commissions are organized and put to work. And they must work out a plan for the immediate relief of the city, for improvement ten years from now and 25 years from now.

Here are some of the raw materials used in the manufacture of General Motors cars:

Gold, platinum, diamonds and tungsten; iron, steel, copper, tin and zinc; coal, clay, cement, sand, gravel and lime; grease, oil and chemicals; lumber and glass.

The leather used in a year would cover 150 city blocks. The lumber would build homes for 50,000 people; the steel would furnish the frame-work of 15 Woodworth buildings.

By co-ordinating the purchases of its divisions, General Motors is able to effect economies in materials of the highest quality; and these savings, in the form of increased car value, find their way to the public.

MANY ATTRACTED BY NEW GRAHAM ONE-TON TRUCKS

Builders Advance from Twentieth to Sixth Place in Industry

The first new Graham Brothers One-ton truck arrived in the city yesterday and is now being displayed by Walter Implement & Auto Co. Dodge Brothers dealer.

An exceptional amount of interest is already being shown and indications point to an unusual number of spring and summer sales.

For a commercial vehicle, it is surprisingly attractive, an excellent example of the persistent trend toward better appearance as well as better quality in the light haulage field.

"Graham Brothers advance has been one of the most spectacular in the truck business," said R. K. Volter. "Three years ago they were in twentieth position. Today they are in sixth. This achievement speaks eloquently for the truck—more eloquently than anything we ourselves might say for it."

"It is plain to anyone who sees this new ONE-TON truck that their continued advance is inevitable, to be able to build such a substantial and attractive truck at such a low price means that Graham Brothers have definitely taken their position among the first few in the industry. With limited production this truck at this price would be impossible."

"Few truck frames are built with such a liberal excess margin of strength. The rear axle, with its finely proportioned strength, is equal to years of the hardest service."

"Exceptional quality is also evident in the springs. Made of the highest grade alloy steel, they are almost unbreakably tough, yet markedly resistant. Coupled with unusual ease of handling and highest quality seat cushioning and upholstery, this produces a rare degree of riding comfort—a factor of the utmost importance in trucks. Keeping the driver contented means greater pride in the truck—and the obvious consequence of this greater pride is better care of the truck, and a more courteous attitude toward customers."

"All wheels and rims on the one ton are of the same size and therefore interchangeable. The tires are 33 x 5 cords."

Brakes are unusually smooth and efficient and easily adjusted. Both the hand and foot brakes are of the internal expansion type and can be readily interchanged for equalization of wear. The brakes are fully enclosed, well protected from dirt and moisture.

"As in Graham Brothers 1 1/2 ton truck Dodge Brothers engine is standard equipment. Truck users realize, of course, that this fact gives them an advantage that would be difficult to duplicate."

VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE MAKES BUICK FAMOUS

Engineers Retain Style Which Was Used in Original Model

For twenty years everybody has known that Valve-in-Head means Buick. And that is because since the time of the very first Buick car, Buick engineers have adhered to the one principal of engine design for which Buick has since become famous.

Satisfied at the start with the correctness of the Valve-in-Head design the engineers, through ceaseless research and experimental work, have improved the original Valve-in-Head engine season after season, moving forward each year with a definite principle of design as the central point.

Internal combustion engines are all bent engines. In other words they derive their power by converting the fuel used in operating them into heat and it is the expansion of the heated gasoline resulting from each explosion in the cylinders that supplies the impulses necessary to run the engines.

So, as far as the engine is concerned, a gallon of gasoline represents so many heat units, and the greater the percentage of these heat units that can be converted into actual working power, the greater the efficiency—or economy—of the engine will be.

Unfortunately, it is impracticable to use all of the heat generated in such an engine for power, because, unless some means of cooling the engine is used, the heat soon becomes so great as to be destructive.

So, in making the cylinder castings, water passages are cast around the cylinders in such a manner as to allow the excess heat to escape through the cylinder walls into the water, which in turn is cooled by the radiator on the front of the car. It is quite evident, therefore, that the less water jacketed space there is in an engine, the greater the efficiency will be, because a smaller area of the cylinder walls and combustion chamber will be exposed to the cooling influence of the water.

It should be understood that in all cases both inlet and exhaust valves form a part of the combustion chamber, while the heat is greatest, and consequently it is necessary to water-jacket the valve chambers as well as the tops and sides of the cylinders.

CHASSIS MAKES BUICK POPULAR

Principles of Construction Best Adapted to Meet All Conditions

The reasons for Buicks' marvelous success and the reason why it is a leader in the industry is because from the very beginning the Buick chassis was correctly designed according to principles of engineering construction that are best adapted to meet the trying conditions to which an automobile is subjected.

Buick also has the facilities for manufacturing this correctly designed chassis accurately and economically. In the large group of factories located at Flint, Michigan, every important unit is manufactured by Buick under the supervision of men particularly skilled in their respective lines. These men work in cooperation with the engineering force that designed the car.

No Buick model is ever placed in the factory for production until Buick engineers have by exhaustive tests and thousands of miles of road work thoroughly satisfied themselves that the car is correctly designed in every respect.

The Buick chassis—the chassis that has been famous over a period of more than twenty years by reason of its Buick Valve-in-Head engine and its other efficiently coordinated units. Regardless of what particular body type you choose in buying your Buick, whether it is a Standard Six or a Master Six, the chassis is the same as far as mechanical design is concerned, the only material difference being in size. Every car in the Buick line is built to the same high standards.

In some engines there is a large pocket on the side of each cylinder in which the valves are located. This pocket is water-jacketed. In other engines there is a pocket on each side of the cylinder, one containing the inlet valve and the other the exhaust valve. These pockets also are water-jacketed.

In the Valve-in-Head engine there is just a plain, unbroken cylinder, with the valves located in the head of the cylinder. And as this space is already water-jacketed, it follows that the Valve-in-Head type affords the minimum of water-jacketed space that is possible to be secured for any given size of cylinder. This has an important bearing on the efficiency of the engine.

MILLIONS OF TIRE MILES INVOLVED IN MILLER TESTS

Motors Are Worked 52 Weeks in Year, 6 Days in Week

Upwards of 25,000,000 tire miles are involved in the annual observations of Miller engineers. More than a dozen different makes of automobiles and commercial vehicles are used in tire testing. These motors are worked 52 weeks in the year, 6 days in the week and 480 miles per day. Each car therefore travels about 150,000 miles in the course of the 12 months.

Each tire is considered a separate unit and its record kept entirely separate from the other three tires on each vehicle. On these test cars more than 7,000,000 tire miles are watched. Periodically Miller engineers scrutinize the effects of wear on the tire, the condition of it after certain periods of its run, the result of accidents, unusual strains and defects.

In addition to these test cars which are always on the move in hot and cold climates, in snow, sand, mud, rock and gravel, there are thousands of other tires under observation, throughout the United States, on passenger cars, trucks, taxicabs, delivery carts, moving vans, etc.

These additional test tires are put on all kinds of motor vehicles which use pneumatic tires and it is estimated that 25,000,000 test tire miles are only a fraction of the actual mileage made by Miller tires under observation of experts.

There are no working conditions which these tires are not subjected to. Most of the tests measure up to the hardest wear that any tire can be given. The result of the observations on each tire are tabulated, carefully kept and brought back to the laboratories with the tires for further consideration.

ENTIRE FOX VALLEY READY TO PROTEST AGAINST TAX BILLS

Appleton Will Arrange for Delegation at Meeting Which Will Be Held Monday

Dr. D. O. Kinsman of Lawrence college and J. D. Steele were among the speakers at the meeting of merchants and manufacturers of the Fox river valley at Fond du Lac Friday evening to discuss the tax bills which come up for hearing before the state legislature at Madison Tuesday. Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and A. W. Anderson of Neenah, also were present. Arrangements were made to send a delegation to Madison with one of more speakers who would enter protest for the entire valley against the effect of the personal property offset on income taxes and against passage of the administration tax bill which would redistribute income tax receipts. Each city will be asked to send as many people as possible. Fond du Lac intends to have at least 20 present. Those who go to the hearing are to meet at the east wing of the capitol at 1 o'clock and they will go in a body to the hearing which opens at 2 o'clock. Arrangements will be made at the luncheon of Appleton people at 12:15 Monday noon at Conway hotel to send representation from here. Businessmen, professional men, farmers and laymen have been urged to attend Monday's meeting as the tax changes affect them all. Some of those who attended the Fond du Lac meeting will explain what the new tax legislation means. Dinner reservations should be telephoned in advance. Senator Titus, speaking at Fond du Lac, explained that these tax measures are almost sure to pass the senate and that a very positive protest should be made if the public is against such a move.

SETTLERS EAGER FOR MILLIONS OF RECLAIMED ACRES

World's Greatest Drainage Project Nears Completion in Missouri

Cape Girardeau, Mo.,—What engineers describe as the world's greatest drainage reclamation project is now nearing completion at the ultimate total cost of more than $50,000,000. Nearly 2,000,000 acres of swamp lands in the St. Francis River basin in southeastern Missouri and northeastern Arkansas will have been made tillable.

Excavations will total upwards of 500,000,000 cubic yards, according to engineering estimates, or more than in the construction of the Panama Canal.

Lads which were virtually worthless now are valued at from $40 to $100 an acre. Corn, wheat, cotton and numerous other crops are successfully raised on the soils built up by deposits brought down by the Mississippi and other large rivers.

With the removal of stagnant water, the mosquito has disappeared, and with it malaria. Homeseekers have poured in by the thousands.

The Little River drainage district, the largest ever organized, has authorized a new $5,000,000 bond issue to provide additional drainage and flood protection for its one-half million acres.

The plan originally adopted and carried out provided for the diversion of the water of the hill streams by digging a channel on the northern border to the district to the Mississippi River. This was paralleled by 40 miles of levees. More than 700 miles of ditches then were constructed to carry off the surface waters. These ditches, which are 100 feet wide and 15 feet deep, empty into Big Lake Arkansas.

The cost of drainage has been met by bond issues retired in 20 years by taxes levied on the lands according to benefit. The average cost has been around $20 an acre.

TWO KANSAS WOMEN CARE LOVINGLY FOR DESERTED ANIMALS

Sisters Make Social Fight for Suffering Dumb Brutes

Kansas City, Mo.—On the hill of Kansas there is a stream of love from here and close by that stream two lone women, Sara H. and H. H. Jacobs, sisters, are making a social fight for the suffering dumb brutes. These women, who are suffering from the loss of their world fame.

These women, by their own industry, acquired a little home in the outlying district that is given over unselfishly and almost completely to boys as the caring dogs, cats, birds and horses and to spreading the gospel of humane conduct.

In order to carry on their chosen work, H. H. Jacobs works as a bookkeeper, goes to a dozen places daily to her day while her sister, white haired and frail is housekeeper. In the 20 years since they began the enterprise and it has been carried on solely through their own means and without momentary recompense, the Jacobs sisters have cared for hundreds of animals patiently nursing the sick, lame, in strength and providing for the strays and disowned till good homes were found.

In their community neighbors testify to friendly acts of these women that have touched human life as well so there has been no criticism that unnecessary time and money were expended upon animals while youth went neglected.

Boys and girls as well as grownups, for miles around call regularly at the Jacobs' home for advice in caring for their pets, and the Misses Jacobs take advantage of the visits to drive home lessons in humane treatment and correct living.

One example of appreciation is the action of Governor P. F. Baxter, who caused the state house flag at Augusta, Me., to be displayed at half-mast when Garry, his Irish setter and faithful companion was buried with seven of his forebears. The Jacobs are proud of Governor Baxter's friendship, and display his photograph when the incident is related.

Miss H. H. Jacobs, in speaking recently of their work, said Governor Baxter's photograph occupies a prominent position in a semi-public room of our house. In the evening it has been the custom for the boys to come in and have a look at it. When a new boy comes, the older ones take the attitude of proprietorship. "That's him," they announce expressively. "Chapple" and "Brownie" and "Pal" come along in also, and it has been decided that these dog companions of the boys all show some resemblance to Garry.

Governor Baxter, replying to those who criticized him for lowering the flag in honor of his dog, said: "I did it not because Garry was my dog and a member of my family, but to draw people's attention to the qualities of the dog qualities which are so often forgotten in human relationship."

"We are far from being alone in this work, if we were, we should despair," Miss Jacobs continued. "W. K. Matthews, honorable secretary of the National Equine Defense League of London, England, writes: 'We should find work for reforms in treatment of horses almost impossible had not the horses been my friends and companions from early childhood.'"

W. Howard, formerly of Iowa, now engaged in humane work in the Philippines, states that it does less good to arrest a man ten times for eating his horse than to get just the beginning of a thought into the fellow's head that all living creatures have rights that should be respected.

There is a woman who has honored us with her interest in our work here and that is Mrs. Minnie Maddern.

Fiske, the actress, widely known for her humane efforts. "The fight for the establishment of justice and recognition for animals is a fight largely against ignorance, before us, we must go on. Every day brings new needs and duties."

KEEPER OF NOTED HOUSE RETIRED BECAUSE OF AGE

Doorman of 10 Downing-st Leaves Post With Many Memories

By Associated Press
London—Robert Lloyd, the gray haired doorman who has ushered the great and the near-great in and out of the door of 10 Downing-st for many years is being retired for old age. He is 67 and his head is full of memories and impressions of most of the figures who got into Europe's spotlight in the days before during and after the World War. It was there that the vigorous Lloyd-George occupied the Prime Minister's house that the doorman of No. 10 found the most exciting hours of his life. Or all the Prime Ministers for whom he has opened the door, he liked Bonar Law best.

"I revered him," he said. "When Mr. Lloyd-George was prime minister we were on our knees all the time. I was constantly lining up field-marsals, generals, admirals, ambassadors, and other distinguished visitors."

Marshal Joffre was always, good humored. Marshal Foch seemed kind but was always in a hurry. General Smuts was charming. He always shook hands with me. I recall Signor Mussolini, arriving too. He burst into the vestibule, and shaking me cordially by the hand, expressed his pleasure at meeting England's Prime Minister. I had to tell him he had told of the wrong man.

"The first time the Prince of Wales came to London, he dashed in with 'Hello, porter.' Where do I put my coat? Here, leave it on your chair, will you? The Duke of York was more serious."

"The way in which De Valera, Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith arrived with guards on their taxicab was quite new."

Armistice day, according to Lloyd, was easily the most exciting he ever experienced. Crowds packed the short narrow street in front of the house, calling for Lloyd-George. He came out and spoke to them from the steps but the growing crowd was not satisfied, and later the little Welshman appeared at a window and talked to them again.

AIRMEN PLAN TRIP TO GIRDLE PACIFIC FROM GOLDEN GATE

Naval Maneuvers in Hawaiian and Australian Waters Occasion for Flight

By Associated Press
Honolulu—The visit of the United States fleet to Hawaiian and Australian waters will be made the occasion for the first round-the-Pacific flight, under plans which are being backed by the Pan-Pacific Union here.

The idea was conceived by David Stead, Australian delegate to the recent Pan-Pacific Food Conservation Conference, who has made a study of aviation, and has been given the unofficial approval of the ranking army and navy officials here.

A flight in four sections is contemplated: San Francisco to Honolulu, Honolulu to Manila, Manila to Australia and Australia to Honolulu. All will follow commercial steamship routes.

Commander John Rodgers, U. S. N., commander of the naval air forces here, said that while he considered the hop from San Francisco to Honolulu as a "stunt," he hoped it could be made. He regarded the route from Honolulu to Australia as practicable and estimated that it could be covered with one of the navy's new type planes in six days, as compared with the present steamer time of 14 days. Mr. Stead has pledged the aid of the Australian government to the project.

The greatest feat, he added, would be the 2100-mile hop from San Francisco to Honolulu. With this accomplished the flight to Manila could be made in easy stages, with stops at Johnston Island, Jalut Island, Panapa and the Pelow group. The third leg would be from Manila to Sandakan, and would then follow the route taken by Sir Ross Smith in his memorable flight from Europe to Australia, along the Australian coast, within the barrier reef where calm water always would be encountered. The fourth leg would be from Sydney to Honolulu, by way of Fiji, Samoa, Phoenix and Palmyra Islands.

Styles More Far Fetched Every Year

At the matinee and on the shop ping trip dress for the lynx eyes of your catty friends, who'll notice not if you look well but of you look EX-PENSIVE! But at home remember that your most becoming garment from the hungry husband and a viewpoint is your pink kitchen apron.

Experts tell us that to be interesting to the simple male a woman must be a mystery. But what chance has she now that the bob that shows the EARS has come in style?

Dresses are narrower skirts are shorter, stockings are thinner, hats are smaller, and hair-cuts are closer every year. And now that we're all living on lemons and lettuce leaves to keep thin, lovely woman has just about reached the V-shape point.

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: I am a Spanish type and have been yellow and dark too long that I'm tired of them. Are there any colors that are becoming to a very dark brunet type?

I think you'll find that lighter colors such as ivory and mauve will be more becoming to you than yellow or crimson. They usually bring out the warm tints of brunet skin more than such obvious shades as yellow.

Dear Miss Grey: Face creams make my skin too oily. Is there anything else I can use to keep my skin smooth?—Beauty Seeker.

There's nothing better for the skin than a tiny bit of almond, oil rubbed into it at night. Rose-water and glycerine lotion is good also.

Dear Cynthia: I have been engaged for six months and expect to be married in June. But there has never been any talk between me and my sweetheart of an engagement ring. Couldn't I delicately suggest to him that he buy me one for my birthday in February?—Gertrude L.

Oh I wouldn't. He is probably saving up every cent he can to make a home for you and a much more important thing than a jewel however expensive.

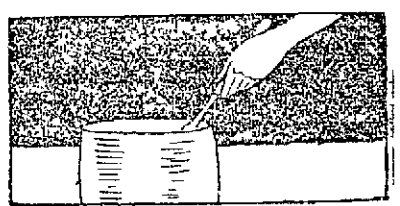

Don't Miss Grey: What causes "Klieg eyes"?—Movie Fan.

"Klieg eyes" are caused by eyestrain from the brilliant Klieg lights under which the indoor scenes of the moving pictures are made.

Household Hints

CLEAR SOUP

WITH COLD MEATS

With cold meats serve thin slices of toast sprinkled with green pepper and a thin layer of mayonnaise.

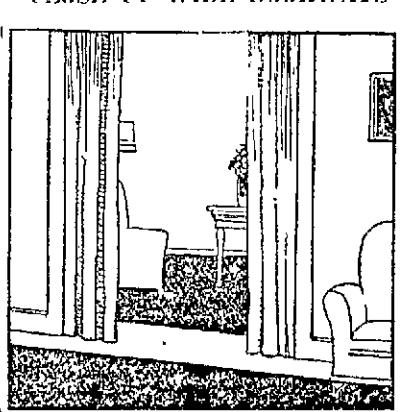

CINNAMON TOAST

You can make excellent cinnamon toast by toasting the bread on one side first, then buttering and adding the sugar and cinnamon before toasting the other side.

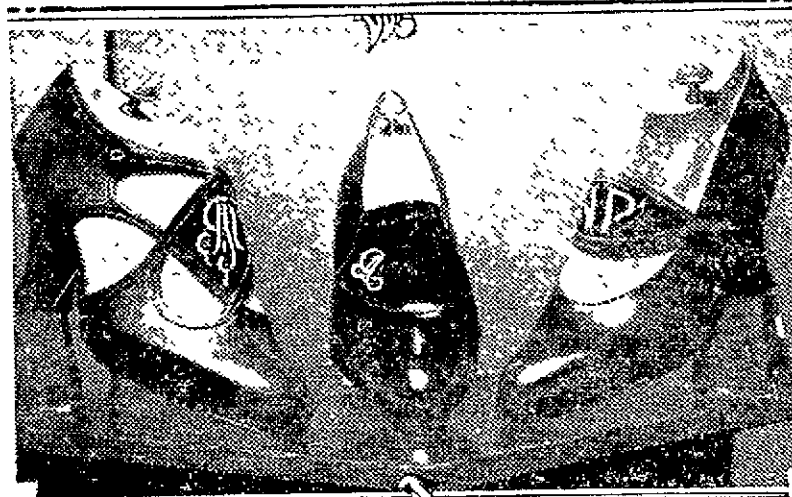

How To Make Homes Cozy

CLOSE UP WIDE DOORWAYS

Wide openings between rooms, or between hall and rooms are no longer in the best homes. If you have one, hang a screen on either side, so that they can be pulled together when the room is to be shut off for privacy. But do not use the old variety of hangings that fall from a horizontal pole running along the top.

Monogram On Footwear For Spring, Says Paris

Paris—Fashion writers from Paris will tell you that this is the season of the button, that the rich man poor man haggardman, thief gamester is more popular than heaven.

Others will write that the Parisian wears pajamas for every hour of the day, and others will tell how two beautiful French actresses are making their own perfumes and putting them on the market.

Now comes the monogram craze. Not only is the monogram en-bordered on scarfs and found on jackets in kasha and smartly used on the wide leather belts so much in vogue but the monogram is now being worn on shoes.

A monogram in enamel appears on the shoe board skin ones while it is in gold leaf on the patent kid, and on the sober dull kind it appears in hand painted gold. The monogram gives a more personal touch to the shoe than it does the scarf or the blouse. It is distinctive and quite new.

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

I was greatly annoyed with that woman customer, but I think I was to blame after all. I brought it on myself by giving her a chance to draw the wrong inference about Walter and myself. I shall never do it again.

I'm not going to advise you about your husband. I think that is one of the silliest things another person can do. Although John loves you devotedly, from a man's point of view, I know that John thinks he is well within his rights, and you, loving and loyal as you are, I now think he is quite outside them.

But oh, let me tell you something, Leslie—unless you feel that your life is unbearable, unless you can look ahead to an old age without your husband, try and explain to him so that he cannot fail to understand your position and your point of view. I am sure then you will come together and stand entirely on your rights.

Oh! Marriage is wholly a life in which there is giving and taking every day and I, who know, must tell you that after two people have been married and lived together in close companionship, after they have mingled both tears and laughter, joy and grief, they cannot part without great unhappiness to both.

I think I showed you that letter from Harry to me. I know he has been quite unhappy since he left me, and it has saddened me greatly, for I know, have found happiness. I did not tell you, however, my dear, of the loneliness that was mine after Harry left me. Sometimes I was almost ready to forgive and forget all he had done if he would just come back to me.

Nature has put something into a woman's heart that makes it impossible for her to be happy unless she mother's something. It may be a husband or a child, a cat or a dog, an ideal or a business, an institution or a crusade, but she must have something in her life that satisfies the maternal urge.

I think at times I should have gone mad if it had not been for the little shop. I have said something of this kind to Walter, and strange as it may seem—he being a man—he has understood the feeling. He says it is because he lived and felt the want of me so long before I came to him.

He thinks the time has come for you to let it be known that we are in partnership in the lingerie shop. Both Walter and I are sure that married people need a little vacation from each other occasionally. It is said that we all grow tired physically, mentally and spiritually, and those who are nearest and dearest to us first feel the consequences of nerves filled with the poison of fatigue and boredom.

If I told this to anyone but you, dear Leslie, that person would think that I was a mad woman. I was grown tired but you know, my dear, this is not so. We still are so deliciously happy. I am afraid it is too good to be true—too good to last. I think he feels the same, so we are trying to insure our future against that terrible, corroding weariness which monotony, even the monotony of great and constant happiness brings.

Walter does not want me to give up the shop. He has come to the conclusion that a woman should have something outside of absolute domesticity and the catering to her husband to take up her mind. I know he would be perfectly content if I supervised the shop part of the time, and allowed myself occasionally to leave it entirely in your care.

We are thinking very much of buying a home here in Albany. You know Walter's family many years ago used to live here. Of course, when we are in town I could spend an hour or two a day at the shop.

the same as he would at his office, and you could probably do the same. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

Adventures Of The Twins

The Little Wooden Animals

As they rode along on "Two Spot," the butterfly, the Fairy Queen began to talk to the Twins.

"You see," said she, "I said I am going on an adventure with you—not you with me."

Do you mean that we are to take you somewhere?" asked Nick.

"Exactly," said the Fairy Queen. "You have been to so many places and have seen so much—while all I do is to stay in my place. Except that once in a blue moon I visit my nine-hundred-and-ninety-nine kingdoms."

"Don't you want to go to any of your kingdoms this time?" asked Nancy.

"No," said the Fairy Queen. "Here's what I thought. I'll let you pick out the places to go—just any place at all. You have been around so much and you know what people want. I have brought my wand along and I thought we could sort of have a wish-granting party. Wouldn't that be nice?"

Nancy clapped her hands. "Do you really mean it?" she cried. "Oh, I know so many people who are wishing things. People and things. Once when Johnny Sweep and Nick and I were helping Santa Claus we heard the little wooden animals in a Noah's Ark just wishing and wishing for something."

"What?" asked the Fairy Queen. "That's exactly what I wanted to know. What were the little wooden animals wishing?"

"They were wishing," spoke up Nick, "that they could be real animals. Big ones like the ones in the circus. They said that tigers and lions and giraffes were not made to live in a wooden box."

"Where are these little creatures now?" asked the Fairy Queen.

"Santa Claus gave them to a little boy called Bobby Wilson," said Nick. "Then we'll go to Bobby's house," said the Fairy Queen.

Luncheon—Baked macaroni and cheese, stewed tomatoes, stuffed apples, brown bread, milk, tea.

Dinner—Broiled cod steaks, steamed potatoes in parsley butter, asparagus salad, apricot fluff, rye bread, milk, coffee.

Children under school age should not be served the pineapple and fish for breakfast. Orange juice about half an hour before their breakfast and then the cereal with thin cream, crisp buttered toast and milk furnish an ideal breakfast for the little "stays at home."

Pineapple, fish, potatoes, muffins, and coffee will find favor with the older members of the family.

SMOKED HADDOCK ON TOAST One-half smoked haddock, 2 table spoons butter, 1 cup milk, 3 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon minced onion, 1 table spoon minced parsley, few gratings nutmeg, pepper, paprika, triangles of toast.

Let fish stand in cold water for 20 minutes. Drain and pour over boiling water. Cover and let stand 10 minutes. Drain remove skin and bones and divide into flakes. Heat milk to the scalding point, add flaked fish and simmer for 10 minutes. Drain put milk aside and chop fish very finely. Melt butter, and minced onion and cook for five minutes without browning. Beat eggs with 1/4 cup of the milk in which the fish was cooked. Add milk, fish, parsley, pepper and nutmeg to butter and onions. Heat and stir in eggs. Cook over hot water until mixture thickens. Pour over triangles of toast and sprinkle with paprika.

EGGLESS MUFFINS One cup coarse bran, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 table spoons molasses, 1 1/2 cups sweet milk. Mix ingredients in the order given. Turn into well-greased pan and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

STUFFED APPLES Pare and core five large apples. Cook in heavy syrup until tender and clear. Remove from syrup and chop. Moisten equal quantities of chopped nuts and seeded and chopped raisins with orange marmalade. Fill cavities of apples with mixture and serve masked with whipped cream. The cream should be sweetened and slightly flavored with vanilla.

BROWN BREAD One cup white flour, 1 cup corn meal, 1 cup whole flour, 3 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup molasses, 1 1/2 cups skim milk.

Mix and stir dry ingredients add molasses and milk and mix thoroughly. Pour into a well buttered mold and steam for two hours. Remove from steamer and bake one hour. Fill mold about two-thirds full of dough and cover with well-greased cover. Remember that pound baking powder cans can be used for steaming bread or pudding if "store" molds are not available. Fill cups with water before using to be sure they do not leak.

This covers down securely before steaming and be sure not to fill cans too full.

A simple wrapper which opens all the way down the front is a useful garment, particularly for a very young baby and, if desired, may take the place of the slip during the first few weeks. Any soft material may be used but part wool or cotton flannel is commonly chosen. Night garments made with feet are better in winter for older babies.

Sleeping Bags—After the baby is 5 or 6 months old, or whenever he can not be depended upon to remain wrapped up in his blankets all night he should have a sleeping bag. For the winter the bags may be made of any woolen material, preferably a soft blanket.

SHOES AND STOCKINGS

It is important to keep the legs and feet of a young baby very warm. While he is in long clothes they need no other covering, but in cold weather and in changeable climates it will probably be necessary to use some sort of foot covering in addition to the skirts and blankets with which he is wrapped. The mother should feel of the baby's feet often as, for instance, when she is changing the diaper, and is they are cold they should be dressed.

The best stockings are part wool. Those described as "unshrinkable," said to be made of a mixture of wool and linen, are somewhat expensive but are genuine economy, as they are very durable and will last until fully outgrown. Others are of wool and cotton, or wool and silk.

OVERFEEDING

Never coax the baby to take more food than it wants. Too much food and too frequent feedings overtax the digestion and lead to stomach and intestinal disturbances. This is what makes the baby cry. It cries because it has indigestion from too much food, not because it is hungry. Boil a pint of water every morning, and put it in a clean bottle. Keep in a cool place. Warm it before giving to the baby.

If any mother with a baby under one year of age has not received a copy of that beautiful and authoritative book, "Baby's Health," call upon the Appleton Post-Crescent, or any members in Appleton of the Baby's Health Association and a copy will be given free.

The afternoon dress is admitting of more elaboration than has been permitted for some time. This does not mean trimming, but more complicated cutting and arrangement of the fabric.

Telephone Work Is of Many Kinds

When one mentions the telephone business it is natural to think first of the operators, repairmen, installers and those with whom the subscriber most often comes in contact.

The scope of telephone work, however, is as wide as the scope of the service. A complete telephone service embraces engineers and technical experts, auditors and accountants, clerical workers and skilled specialists of many lines.

The duties of the 6,000 Wisconsin Telephone Company employees vary widely, but in the purpose and objective of their effort they unite to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost to our patrons.

CALL BUSINESSMEN TO TAX DISCUSSION
MEETING MONDAY

Chamber of Commerce Will Arrange for Delegation to Go to Madison

Measures which are of importance to business men have been asked by the chamber of commerce to attend a luncheon at 1215 Monday noon at the hotel to discuss the state and national tax bill and arrange to send a delegation to Madison to attend the legislative hearing there Tuesday.

Repeal of the personal property tax and redistribution of the revenue from the income tax are the changes which are of chief concern. Cities and villages now receive 70 per cent of the income tax paid by them. Counties are given 20 per cent and the state gets 10 per cent. This is considered a logical distribution and considerable objection has been raised to a change.

Local men who attended a similar gathering at Fond du Lac Friday night will lead the discussion and a speaker familiar with the subject may be obtained.

SCHOMMERS MOVE TO NEW ART SHOP

John C. Ryan Retires from Active Business After Long Activity

With the removal of the art store of N. C. Schommer & Son to its new location at 114 S. Oneida street, several business changes are taking place. The John C. Ryan art store, which was conducted by more than 30 years at the Oneida street location, goes out of existence and Schommer's art shop takes its place. The Ryan business was purchased several months ago by the new occupants.

Remodeling of the former Schommer store at 130 E. College street has been started by its new owner, John Schommer, who will move the paint and canvas store and new cream parlor there in the near future from its present place at 266 E. College street.

Two concerns really replace that of N. C. Schommer & Son although the ownership is the same. The model art shop that occupied the first floor of the College street store has been moved to the Ryan store and the funeral supplies housed on the second floor have been taken to the Schommer Funeral home 210 W. Washington street. The company's undertaking business has been conducted at the funeral home since Dec. 1 when the remodeling of the latter residence at that location was completed and the modern burial service building was ready for use.

Members of the concern now are N. C. Schommer and his three sons, Edgar P. Harry P. and George M. Schommer.

Appleton now has one of the most complete and up-to-date art stores in the Fox River valley through the merger of the Schommer and Ryan establishments, both of which were quite complete and direct a large volume of business. Changes have been made in the arrangement of the Oneida street store to afford more room for the art displays. The framing workshop has been made smaller so as to give added store space and other alterations permit of remodeling of art goods in a most convenient manner.

John C. Ryan, retiring art merchant, does not intend to devote himself entirely to leisure. He is to become superintendent of St. Mary's Catholic cemetery, Packard street and April 1 and will be kept busy each summer looking after the property and its maintenance. Mr. Ryan has been secretary of the cemetery association for a number of years and its growth has caused the position of superintendent to be created.

N. C. Schommer also is one of the veteran business men of Appleton. He conducted the undertaking business in the location he now leaves for 28 years.

SCHNEIDER WORKS FOR MORE PAY FOR MAILMEN

George I. Schneider, congressman from the Ninth district, is working for passage of the bill to increase salaries of clerks, city carriers and rural carriers in the postal service approximately $300 a year, according to word from Washington where a Mr. Schneider is attending a session of congress.

The bill also provides an increase in the cost and private post card, parcel post mail and second class matter sufficiently large to provide for the increase salaries. President Coolidge at the last session vetoed a bill to increase the salaries of postal employees but no provision has been made to raise the necessary money. This bill now lying in the Senate is expected to pass.

A COUGH REMEDY WITHOUT OPiates

Many cough preparations contain some one or more harmful drugs which are sold to take the place of quinine. None of these harmful substitutes have ever been used by 123 S. HONEY AND TAR CO. PATENT. The name of every ingredient is plainly printed on every container. You know what you are taking when you take Foley's. It clings to the throat, good for old and young. You have a cough, why not try it before substitutes. Sold everywhere.

Youth Knows Variety Of Things If He's Scout

When a youngster joins the boy scouts he learns a variety of useful and beautiful activities. This was borne out by the rally of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, at Kaukauna this week. The demonstrations and contests showed that boys can attain skill quite readily in things they like if given a chance to apply their energies.

All of the scouts are taught a manual bearing through the military phase of the work. At the rally the troops were placed on inspection so their neatness could be determined and they were marched around the room. The troop from Kimberly marched about all the way from the village to Kaukauna and back to the accompaniment of two drums. A military review was conducted by Menasha troop No. 3.

Camp life was shown by the Kaukauna troop which had a camp setting on the stage, with glowing campfires. Knot tying, building of a human signal tower and visual signaling also were exhibited.

First aid has a big place in the scouts training and he is trained to act in an emergency perhaps much better than the average adult who could not save the life of a scout.

Troops have many other activities they could conduct if asked, especially if they were outdoors. The activities of the open air form the main interest of scout life.

HI-Y CLUB WOULD BRING CARL SANDBURG TO CITY

Efforts are being made by the Appleton HI-Y club which consists of juniors and seniors in the local high school to bring Carl Sandburg, famous Chicago poet to Appleton. Mr. Sandburg is known as the "poet of the Stockyards" and is noted for his realistic descriptions. His descriptive power is so great that he is supposed to be able to transport his audience mentally to the scenes of his poems.

Mr. Sandburg reads his own works and often accompanies himself with a harp. If the efforts of the club are successful he will put on a special program at low prices. A certain number of people must be guaranteed before he will consent to appear in Appleton and members of the club are working hard to sign up a sufficient group.

Simple clean wholesome food of the right kind fed to children in proper quantities and combinations will do far more for them than any other single factor in ensuring them normal health and study development.

The principles that should govern the choice of food for children between two and ten years of age and specific suggestions for meals made up of such food are set forth in a free booklet which the Washington Information Bureau of this paper has for distribution.

STEAMSHIP FIRMS GIVE CHEAP RATE ACROSS ATLANTIC

American Immigration Laws
Make It Impossible to Fill
Steerages

Bremen—New York society women who travel with maids and poodles countless wardrobe trunks are no longer besieged by agents for steamship lines as they used to be in days when there were plenty of steerage passengers.

De luxe steamers and de luxe passengers were once a great means of advertising, and the third-class passengers were the sources of profits. But times have changed. American immigration laws have made it impossible for passenger agents to fill the holds of steamers with European emigrants bound for America, and the resourceful agents have been forced to find passengers of another type to fill the space which emigrants used to monopolize.

The cabin ship, that is the ship in which the first and second class accommodations were also thrown together and sold at second class rates, was the first overture to the tourists of limited means, and now the steamship lines are offering still greater bargains to persons who want to see Europe economically. Third-class accommodations on many of the liners have been improved so they are as good as the old second class rooms, and special sections of the steerage are set aside for students, teachers, professional men and other cultured persons who prefer to economize on steamship fare and spend their money in travel or study on the continent.

Educators, students and soldiers who fought in Europe during the World War have made up a considerable percentage of the steerage travel on Shipping Board boats this past season, and the campaign to promote economical tours to Europe has only begun. Special rates were offered for Christmas tours, which included visits to the Italian Riviera, and elaborate plans are in preparation to attract patrons of the economy tours next summer.

Many tourist agencies in Germany are working to develop tourist travel in the United States, and several parties have gone this year on inexpensive tours which extended as far as the Pacific Coast. Industrialists are especially interested in the American tours and it is expected that many German scientists and engineers will leave in the next few months to study new methods which have been developed in American and Canadian factories during and after the war. Most of these persons, however, will travel on the cabin ships rather than in the steerage.

GOOD WAR RECORDS ENSURE EASY DAYS TO CARRIER DOVES

Home for Pigeon Veterans of World War Established
at Los Angeles

By Associated Press
Los Angeles—A home for United States army carrier pigeons, veterans of the World war, has been established here at the army pigeon lofts at Ross Feld, Arcadia.

Included among the 200 birds at the home, all of which saw service overseas, are three honor birds, so distinguished because of their exceptional performances in action. Two of these, "President Wilson" and "The Mocker," carry scars of battle. "President Wilson" sacrificed a leg and "The Mocker" an eye in the fight for victory.

The third bird hero at the home "Spike," appears none the worse for his war-time experiences. His claim to fame lies in his record of having carried 51 messages of importance without being injured.

Ray R. Delhauer, pigeon expert in charge of the army lofts, considers these birds heroes no less than the former soldiers.

"President Wilson," a slate-colored homer of great vitality and rapidity of flight, was first used in the tank corps. His work was so well done that he was transferred to the Meuse-Argonne sector and stationed at Cubry. About 5 o'clock one rainy morning he returned from his second flight in this sector with his leg shot off. He had brought important messages at a speed of almost a mile a minute.

On the morning of Sept. 12, 1918, "The Mocker" arrived at his station with one eye destroyed and his head a welter of blood. The message tube he carried contained information of great importance and gave the locations of several heavy artillery batteries which the Germans had been using effectively on the American

APPLETON HIGH COPS DOUBLE WIN FROM NEENAH

Orange First Team Victor, 10 To 9, And 'Seconds Win, 17 To 8

Largest Crowd Ever Packed in Armory & Witnesses Two Hardfought Battles

Appleton high school Friday night scored a double victory over Neenah high in Armory G here when the Orange first team won, 10 to 9, and the second stringers beat the visitors subs, 17 to 8, in the opener. The hall was crowded that there were hardly any room to play and the attendance was estimated at considerably more than 2,000. Both games were fast and well played and by winning their Appleton evened its score with the Twin City which two weeks ago defeated a crippled Orange quintet.

In the main game neither team was able to make a basket during the first period, but Neenah went into the lead by a lone freethrow. Appleton unlimbered a stronger attack in the second quarter, leading, 2 to 1 at halftime, and in the third took a lead of 6 to 4, which the visitors were unable to overcome although they outscored the Orange by one basket in the final period. Both first teams were high strung and nervous at the beginning of the game and missed shot after shot. Neenah missed enough freethrows to have won the game, and more than fifteen long shots bounded off the hoop. Appleton tried less long ones than the visitors and worked the ball under the basket before attempting to shoot, but most of the trials bounded off the basket or the backboard.

Ashman made three of Appleton's five baskets, while Stulp and Parker each made two for Neenah. The Orange defense was more nearly perfect than Neenah's while the visitors had the Appleton five slightly shaded in floorwork during the first half.

FIRST QUARTER
Stulp attempted a shot when he grabbed the ball near the middle of the floor on the tipup, but it bounded off the rim of the basket. Neenah followed up well and worked the ball down the floor again, but could not find the net. The players appeared extremely nervous, and when Koerwitz got a freethrow on Fraser's foul, he missed the shot. Neenah also missed his chance of Koerwitz' foul a moment later, and followed this attempt with another missed freethrow on Keating's foul.

Neenah attempted one long chance after the other, all of them coming close. Bowly fouled Stulp near the end of the quarter and after missing his first throw, Stulp made the second, scoring the only point of the quarter.

SECOND QUARTER
Shortly after the tipup Ashman fouled Bradenick on a rebound and the freethrow. Bowly received the ball near the middle of the floor and working it under the basket shot it through the hoop, putting Appleton in the lead. Stulp and Courtney fouled each other but both shot the ball wide of the basket. For the rest of the quarter honors were even but neither side was able to score.

THIRD QUARTER
The Appleton youngsters started off with a rush and the tipup and carried the ball down the floor time after time. After Neenah had attempted several long shots Ashman rushed down the floor twice in succession for a brace of pretty shots, putting his team on top, 6 to 1.

After Stulp fouled Bowly who missed the throw, the Neenah forward made a moderately long shot, and the crowd raised its yells and cheers. A moment later he missed two chances to score on fouls, but redeemed himself with another basket just before the period ended.

FOURTH QUARTER
Ashman again started the quarter with a short shot through the ring, but gave Neenah a chance to score when he fouled Keating, who made the freethrow. Neenah made a desperate attempt to reach the basket from all over the floor almost every time but Neenah man got his hands on the ball. One of Parker's attempts was successful and brought the visitors within one point of Appleton's score, 8 to 7. For several minutes the crowd was on its toes while the ball passed from end to end of the floor, but finally Fraser sank a pretty shot and Neenah continued to dominate playing and with but one minute to go, Parker found the basket with another long one.

It looked as though the visitors might still snatch victory from defeat, but the gun ended the game. The lineups:

Neenah: R. F. Parker, Fraser, R. F. L. F. Stulp, Courtney, L. F. C. Bradenick, Ashman, C. R. G. Keating, Bowly, R. G. L. G. Koerwitz, Sollo L. G. Substitutes—Schneller for Bradenick, Referee, Howard (Cub) Buck.

In the opener Appleton took a lead of 8 to 4, in the first period with every man on the team going strong. Neenah made but two baskets during the entire game, scoring the rest of its points on fourththrows. At the end of the half Bradenick's Orange second stringers had increased their lead to 12 to 6. In the third period each team made one basket. Bohon caged a final fieldgoal for Appleton almost as the final whistle blew.

The lineups:

The Nut Cracker

In addition to Mr. Kearns, it may be said that Mr. Dempsey has Estelle to support.

We suppose Miss Taylor agreed to take the champion for better or worse and yet he could hardly be any worse than he was the night he fought Bill Brennan.

IF MR. DEMPSEY IS TO BECOME A SUCCESSFUL ROMEO HE WILL HAVE TO DO MORE CLINCHING THAN HE USUALLY DOES IN THE RING.

Mr. Dempsey says this, his second marriage, will be his last. . . . In other words, it is a wind-up bout.

Not the least remarkable thing about the wedding was that no journalistic genius used this headline: "Champion Kayped by Cupid."

We don't know whether Miss Taylor can cook or not. . . . It is fairly evident, however, that she has already cooked Harry Willis' goose.

MR. DEMPSEY SAYS HE REALLY DOES LOVE TO HANG AROUND THE HOUSE. . . . ESPECIALLY WHEN THE HOUSE AGGREGATES $600.000.

Miss Taylor had to get a divorce to get Dempsey. . . . Gibbons and Willis are still wondering what they have to do to get him.

For the first time in his life Mr. Dempsey appeared for an important engagement without his red sweater and butter-rubber whiskers.

You probably noticed that Firpo was not the best man. . . . Indeed, he was not the best man at a previous affair in which Mr. Dempsey participated.

Milwaukee—George Little, athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, told a group of college men at the University club here Friday night what he believes in for universities, and outlined Wisconsin's program for the coming year.

Director Little praised the men who are handling the athletic situation at Wisconsin now especially Dr. Walter Meany and Tom Jones, track coach.

"The program I have in mind for Wisconsin looks forward 20 years," Little said. "I do not promise you anything on the score board except that when the intercollegiate teams of the University of Wisconsin go out to represent their university they will represent all that is best in the Wisconsin ideals of education and character."

TWELVE CORNERS WINS FROM ANCIENT RIVALS

Twelve Corners basketball team took the second game of a three game series from its ancient rival Five Corners, on the Twelve Corners floor Wednesday evening, by the score of 20 to 5. Twelve Corners won the first game two weeks ago by a score of 30 to 10. It is unlikely that an other game will be played.

The game was closer than the score indicates. "Five" driving through their opponents' defense time and again only to miss an easy shot under the basket. Twelve Corners veteran quintet easily outshot its inexperienced rivals Schmidt and Stingle. Twelve Corners star forwards, back through the visitors' defense easily and during the second half caged the ball from all angles of the floor. Spaude scored all of the points for the

Coe's Victory Over Ripon Promises Hard Game For Lawrence

Iowa Collegians Win Second Game of Wisconsin Tour, 26 to 16 After Beating Beloit

Coe college Friday night defeated Ripon on its home court, 26 to 16. The score indicates the Riponites were easy victims for the Iowa collegians and promises a hard task ahead for Lawrence, which was prepared to meet Coe in Armory G here at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Thursday the Iowans defeated Beloit, 25 to 20, and possibly these two games in succession preceding their tilt with the Blues may give Lawrence an advance tag.

Judging from advance ticket sales the armory will hardly be large enough to accommodate the crowd Saturday afternoon. The hall has been filled to the limit in almost every previous tilt, and with the best game on the schedule in prospect Coe probably will draw the limit.

The Lawrence players all were in perfect shape on the eve of the game. Their victory over Marquette here showed they had regained their eye for baskets in a small measure at least, and if they can keep it up they have an even chance to cop the championship of the Little Eight.

Neither Coe nor Lawrence has been defeated in conference games this season, and the outcome of Saturday's game probably will decide the winner of the title. Lawrence has beaten both Beloit and Ripon. The Blues defeated Ripon, 13 to 6, and Beloit 25 to 23. These scores compared to those in Coe's games with the same college gives point to a close battle here.

CHICAGO CHAMPION WINS SKATE RACES

Francis Allen Now Leads in Points for Trophy at Lake Placid

Lake Placid, N. Y.—Francis Allen Chicago skater who wears the inter national amateur outdoor speed skating crown, won both events on the American Diamond trophy program the 220 yard and one-mile races here Friday. He now leads in points for the trophy. O'Neil Farrell also of Chicago started to help Allen make it an all Chicago meet, winning the 220 yard event in the Lake Placid trophy contest, aided by Ray McWhirter of Chicago, who placed third. His plans were upset however, when Leslie Boyd of New York won the two-mile race and Eddie Murphy of Chicago, had to content himself with third place.

In winning the 220 Allen defeated Charles Gorman of St. Johns, New Brunswick, the title holder, who placed second. Joe Moore of New York was third. The time was 20 seconds flat.

Valentine Blais of Lake Placid led in the mile event until near the bell lap, but Allen circled the leaders to dash over a winner, and Richard Donovan of Saranac Lake slid by Blais to place second. Blais was third. The time was 3:05.45.

MICHIGAN PUTS HOPES IN SOPHOMORE ATHLETES

University of Michigan track and field coaches are expecting a great deal from sophomore athletes this season. Fact is, many of the second year men stand a good chance of beating out some of the veterans. It is the best bunch of material that has come up to the varsity in some time, according to reports.

NURMI FACES HARD TEST IN TWO-MILE BOARD TRACK RACE

Finnish Wonder Loses to Gottlieb of Syracuse University

New York—Madison Square Garden board track is ready for Paavo Nurmi's greatest of all tests Saturday night when he rings two miles in the New York Athletic club games. Nurmi, after a week's journey, which has taken him to Portland, Me., Buffalo and Syracuse will enter his fourth race in six days with the record for the distance cut almost to nine minutes by Willie Ritola. Ritola's accomplishments in racing to victory in nine minutes 3.3 seconds, at Buffalo almost overshadowed the breaking of three records by Nurmi himself and the fact that Ritola made was a 2.5 seconds better than the best time the Olympic champion has attained.

The long train journeys may be telling on the Finnish sensation for Friday night he ran second to Gottlieb of Syracuse university in a mile race in which the collegian was given a 65 yard advantage. However, Nurmi caught Gottlieb with plenty of distance to go and could not extend himself when his opponent staged his final dash to the tape.

The defeat at the hands of Gottlieb was much more important than Gunnar Nelson's victory in Brooklyn several weeks ago for Nurmi had a long advantage in the handicapping and won by a mere yard while Gottlieb's margin was fully ten yards. Nurmi's race Saturday night will be a special event against Verne Booth and Harry Helme and possibly the great Yale runner Macaulay Smith. Ritola, Erikiero, Scholz and a host of college athletes will compete in these games.

NEW YORK MARKET HEAVY AT CLOSING

Reactionary Tendencies Prevail on Wall Street Saturday

New York—Reactionary tendencies prevailed in Saturday's stock market. Bidding up of American came to another record top at 177 1/2 was ineffective in preventing the selling in other sections of the list. Republic Steel broke 3 points in reflection of the poor 1924 earnings report and the other steels yield in sympathy. Oils were in supply despite another increase in Pennsylvania Crude prices. A few strong developed in the Motor, Merchandising, Chemical, Public Utility and Minor Tobacco shares. Closing was heavy. Total sales approximated $50,000 shares.

RAILWAY LEAP FROG

When a locomotive struck this caboose, at Louisville, Ky., it lifted it clear over one gondola car and square on top of another. With owl in the cellar, the crew was ready for light housekeeping, but the gonola's car was on its way to the repair shop, so they just hauled the caboose along too.

CHICAGO CHEESE MARKET

Chicago—An irregularity in price was noted in the cheese market Friday.

RUSSIA REBUILDS GEORGIAN ROADS

Vladikavkaz, Caucasus.—Soviet engineers have begun important reconstruction work on the great Georgian military highway which runs from Vladikavkaz to Tiflis and connects Russia with the Caucasian states. Begun more than 100 years ago by czarist engineers, the road, which runs for a distance of 150 miles through the steep Caucasian Mountains, is now in a bad state of repair and will require millions of dollars for its reconstruction.

As an engineering achievement, the highway probably exceeds any similar project in Europe. It took 30 years to build it and it cost $35,000,000. It has figured conspicuously in all the wars in Russia throughout the last century. Throughout its entire course, the traveler finds an unending panorama of superb mountain scenery, gorges, rivers, lakes, glaciers, ravines, waterfalls, ancient fortresses and castles.

There are several huge glacier fields close to the highway, which from time to time cause dangerous landslides frequently resulting in the loss of life. Recently a prominent Russian engineer was caught in one of these avalanches and swept to death. His body was never recovered. Soviet contractors are now replacing many of the gigantic wooden, steel and concrete walls and barriers which protect the road from snowslides, but which have become rotted from years of use.

BULGARIA SUFFERS IN WHEAT SHORTAGE

Sofia—Owing to the shortage of wheat, war bread is the rule in Bulgaria. White bread is almost prohibitive in price. Under the direction of the food dictator, reestablished in Bulgaria six years after the war, the black bread is a mixture of wheat meal and corn.

The scarcity of wheat is due to a large measure to a large amount of wheat turned over to Yugoslavia under the recent agreement to pay to that country $300,000,000 loan in addition to the Jugoslavians share in the general reparations for military requisitions. When it appeared a few weeks ago that Bulgaria would be unable to pay half of that amount in kind without running the risk of depriving her own population of the necessary amount of bread, Yugoslavia consented to accept half of that amount in kind in currency. The feeding of the cities is placed under the charge of a food dictator in Sofia, who has subordinate food administrators in all the other cities.

Under an order just published, the subordinate food administrators are instructed to provide for the feeding of all respective cities, even if they are obliged to purchase grain supplies at a price fixed by them, as especially in cases where the dealers refuse to sell at the market prices. Bread is sold at about twice the price which it brought when the present government came into power.
